André Breton, 1969 Manifesto of Surrealism André Breton, 2016-12-30 Two Surrealist Manifestos were issued by the Surrealist movement in 1924 and 1929. They were both written by André Breton. André Breton was explicit in his assertion that Surrealism was above all a revolutionary movement. The first Surrealist manifesto was written by Breton and published in 1924 as a booklet Editions du Sagittaire. The document defines Surrealism as Psychic automatism in its pure state by which one proposes to express verbally by means of the written word or in any other manner the actual functioning of thought. Dictated by thought in the absence of any control exercised by reason, exempt from any aesthetic or moral concern.

Surrealism is a cultural movement that began in the early 1920s and is best known for its visual artworks and writings. The aim was to resolve the previously contradictory conditions of dream and reality. Artists painted unnerving, illogical scenes with photographic precision; created strange creatures from everyday objects and developed painting techniques that allowed the unconscious to express itself.

Mad Muses and the Early Surrealists Justin Vicari, 2011-11-08 The early surrealists attempted to create art directly from the unconscious but the resulting art often reveals the stamp of its age. It is generally accepted that a certain macho sensibility prevailed within the movement, excluding queer sensibilities and reducing women to object status. In startling new readings of Breton, Bataille, Cocteau, Artaud, Crevel and others, Justin Vicari examines the intersections between surrealism and mental illness, deploying an interdisciplinary approach which includes aesthetic theory, radical politics and psychoanalysis. Of particular interest is the representation of the ideal woman as not only sexually available but mentally ill: a hysterical muse representing a kind of authenticity lost in modern life.
