New Maps For Old Explorations In Science And Religion:

New Maps for Old Mary Gerhart, Allan Melvin Russell, 2016-10-06 This collection of eleven essays written jointly by the authors argues that science and religion should be seen as mutually enriching worldviews with no need of reconciliation The essays are organised in three parts which deal with the definition and development of the concept of metaphoric process and its implications for illuminating what it means to understand something the exploration of the so called bidisciplinary dialogue and the differences and similarities between studying science and religion respectively Putting God on the

Map Erin Kidd, Jakob Karl Rinderknecht, 2018-09-15 Since the middle of the last century the emergence and development of fields as diverse as artificial intelligence evolutionary science cognitive linguistics and neuroscience have led to a greater understanding of the ways in which humans think One of the major discoveries involves what researchers refer to as conceptual mapping According to theories of conceptual mapping human thought is profoundly shaped by the ability to make connections Simply put human thinking is metaphorical all the way down This insight has revolutionized the way in which scientists and philosophers think about the mind body problem the formation and function of language and even the development of scientific progress itself Until recently however this research has gone largely unnoticed within Christian theology But this revolution in understanding human cognition calls for broader and richer engagement with theology and religious studies How does this new insight into human meaning making bear on our understanding of religious meaning making And how might Christian theology interpret and respond to this new understanding of the development of human thought This edited volume offers an introduction to conceptual mapping that is accessible to those with no previous knowledge of the field and demonstrates the substantial resources this interdisciplinary research has for thinking about a variety of theological questions The book begins with a chapter introducing the reader to the basics of conceptual mapping The remaining chapters apply these insights to a variety of theological topics including anthropology sacramental theology biblical studies ecumenical theology and ethics Human Becoming in an Age of Science, Technology, and Faith

Philip Hefner, 2022-08-23 What does it mean to be human in an age of science technology and faith The ability to ask such a question suggests at least a partial answer in that however we describe ourselves we bear a major role in determining what we will become In this book Philip Hefner reminds us that this inescapable condition is the challenge and opportunity of Homo sapiens as the created co creator In four original chapters and an epilogue Hefner frames the created co creator as a memoirist with an ambiguous legacy explores some of the roots of this ambiguity emphasizes the importance of answering this ambiguity with symbols that can interpret it in wholesome ways proposes a partial theological framework for co creating such symbols and applies this framework to the challenge of using technology like artificial intelligence and robotics to create other co creators in our own image Editors Jason P Roberts and Mladen Turk have compiled eight responses to Hefner's work to honor his scholarly career and answer his call to help co create a more wholesome future in an age of science technology and faith      Interactive World, Interactive God Carol Rausch Albright, John R. Albright, Mladen Turk, 2017-11-06 Since the dawn of science ideas about the relation between science and religion have always depended on what else is going on in a society During the twentieth century daily life changed dramatically Technology revolutionized transportation agriculture communications and housework People came to rely on scientific predictability in their technology Many wondered whether God's supposed actions were consistent with scientific knowledge The twenty first century is bringing new scientific research capabilities They are revealing that scientific results are not totally predictable after all Certain types of interaction lead to outcomes that are unpredictable in principle These in turn may lead to a whole new range of potential interactions They do not rule out the reality of a dynamic God who can act in the world without breaking the known principles of science God may in fact work with the way things really are Human experience of God may accurately reflect this reality Interactive World Interactive God illustrates such new understandings in religion and science by describing recent developments in a wide range of sciences and providing theological commentary The book is written for intelligent readers who may not be specialized in science but who are looking for ways to understand divine action in today's world      The Earth Is Our Home Nelson Rivera, 2016-11-14 This book demonstrates that Mary Midgley's philosophy of evolution points the way towards considering the earth as our only true home since we are products of this planet and its evolving and complex life along with every other organism From the knowledge of ourselves as knowing animals with a biological as well as a cultural history Midgley proposes the elaboration of an evolutionary epistemology that situates us firmly on the earth together with other creatures while at the same time helping us to build knowledge of the world from the complexity of the human experience I like to call this approach by a known theological analogy a view from below that is from the underside of the world from the realms of nature and history Such an approach does not begin by assuming conceptions of design or order in nature a view that we term from above although it does not rule out the possibility of teleological or metaphysical constructions of reality in the long run This down to earth approach I consider essential for any philosophy or theology that wants to take evolutionary theory seriously while committed to a proper and non dismissive assessment of religious views      Theology and Conversation Jacques Haers, P. De Mey, 2003 This collection of articles presents the main contributions to the third LEST Louvain Encounters in Systematic Theology conference held at the K U Leuven's Faculty of Theology November 2001 Its theme Theology and Conversation Towards a Relational Theology continues the explorations in contemporary theology as set out in the 1997 LEST I conference on The Myriad Christ BETL 152 and in the 1999 LEST II conference on Sacramental Presence in Postmodern Context BETL 160 In LEST III also the plurality and diversity of theological approaches play a major role and the question is raised whether the contemporary theological endeavour in a global world contains in itself the tools to respectfully and constructively approach this diversity The ideas of relation and conversation as found in the theologies of the Trinity and of creation as presupposed in ecclesial praxis and as articulated in reflections that take their bearings from spiritual experience provide a powerful means for renewed theological reflection capable of confronting plurality and diversity Her Voice, Her Faith Katherine Young, 2018-03-13 They say religion is a personal and private affair But when a woman believes in a tradition she has a relationship to that faith beyond her sacred space Religious traditions historically poor treatment of women has lead many to question why they believe How has their tradition either embraced and enlightened or excluded and confined women throughout history Her Voice Her Faith presents the personal and historical perspectives of women who not only live their faith day to day but who also know their religion s history with women in general Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 2001-06 Current contents Arts and Humanities, 2002 The Publishers Weekly, 1881 Earth Sciences History, 2004 Christology Anne M. Clifford, Anthony J. Godzieba, 2003 A collection of essays viewing past and current developments in Christology a state of the art report by theologians Featured will be essays by Paula Fredricksen of Boston University and Roger Haight Perspectives on Science and Christian Faith, 2004 Experiences of Place Mary N. MacDonald, 2003 Place and orientation are important aspects of human experience Place evokes geography and culture and conjures up history and myth Place is not only a particular physical location but an idea a mental construction that captures and directs the human relationship to the world The distinguished contributors to this volume invite us to reflect on the significance of places real and imagined in the religious traditions they study and on how places are known imagined remembered and struggled for Whether looking at the ways myth and ritual reinforce the Yoruba s bond to the land or at Australian Aboriginal engagements with the origins of the created world exploring Hildegard of Bingen s experience of heaven or myths of the underworld in contemporary American millennialism listening to oral narratives of divine politics and deserted places of Rajasthan or investigating literal and literary images of the Promised Land these essays underscore that place is constructed in the intersection of material conditions political realities narrative and ritual performance Book Review Index Cumulation Dana Ferguson, 2005-09 Book Review Index provides quick access to reviews of books periodicals books on tape and electronic media representing a wide range of popular academic and professional interests The up to date coverage wide scope and inclusion of citations for both newly published and older materials make Book Review Index an exceptionally useful reference tool More than 600 publications are indexed including journals and national general interest publications and newspapers Book Review Index is available in a three issue subscription covering the current year or as an annual cumulation covering the past year Divine Transcendence and Immanence in the Work of Thomas Aquinas Harm J. M. J. Goris, 2009 The terms transcendence and immanence are often used casually and as self evident The spatial imagery contained in their meaning determines the way they are understood and used as opposites like there and here As a consequence the two concepts are seen as mutually exclusive when applied to God s being and to his activity and presence in our world and in our history This view on the relationship between God and world is characteristic not only of deism and pantheism but also of theism However in the view of Thomas Aquinas such an opposition cannot adequately capture the central tenets of the Christian faith This book explores Aquinas thought on transcendence and immanence in his discussions of creation analogy the Trinity grace and Christ and offers interpretations in which God s transcendence and his immanence do not exclude but imply one another br The papers contained in this volume were originally presented at the third international conference of the Thomas Instituut at Utrecht in 2005     The Catholic Periodical and Literature Index ,2002     American Journal of Physics ,2001     International Bibliography of Book Reviews of Scholarly Literature Chiefly in the Fields of Arts and Humanities and the Social Sciences ,2001     The Book Review Digest ,2004
