Summoning the Powers Beyond Jay Dobbin, Francis X. Hezel, 2011-09-30 Summoning the Powers Beyond collects and reconstructs the old religions of preindustrial Micronesia It draws mostly from written sources from the turn of the nineteenth century and the period immediately after World War II reports of the Hamburg South Sea Expedition of 1908 1910 articles by German Roman Catholic missionaries in Micronesia included in the journal Anthropos and reports by the Coordinated Investigation of Micronesian Anthropology CIMA and the American Board of Commissioners of the Foreign Missions ABCFM A detailed introduction and an overview of Micronesian religion are followed by separate chapters detailing religion in the Chuukic speaking islands Pohnpei Kosrae the Marshall Islands Yap Palau Kiribati and Nauru The Chamorro speaking group of the Marianas is omitted because lengthy periods of intense military and missionary activity eradicated most of the local religion The Polynesian outliers Nukuoro and Kapingamarangi are discussed at the end primarily to underscore the contrasts between Polynesian and Micronesian religion In a concluding chapter the author highlights the similarities and differences between the areas within Micronesia and then attempts an appreciation or evaluation of Micronesia religion Finally he addresses the evidence of a tentative hypothesis that Micronesian religion is sufficiently different from that of Polynesia and Melanesia to justify the continued claim of a separate Micronesian religion

Palauan-English Dictionary Edwin G. McManus, 1977 First Fieldwork Laura Zimmer-Tamakoshi, 2018-08-31 First Fieldwork Pacific Anthropology 1960 1985 explores what a generation of anthropologists experienced during their first visits to the field at a time of momentous political changes in Pacific island countries and societies and in anthropology itself Answering some of the same how and why questions found in Terence E Hays Ethnographic Presents Pioneering Anthropologists in the Papua New Guinea Highlands 1993 First Fieldwork begins where that collection left off in the 1950s and covers a broader selection of Pacific Islands societies and topics Chapters range from candid reflections on working with little known peoples to reflexive analyses of adapting research projects and field sites in order to better fit local politics and concerns Included in these accounts are the often harsh emotional and logistical demands placed on fieldworkers and interlocutors as they attempt the work of connecting and achieving mutual understandings Evident throughout is the conviction that fieldwork and what we learn from and write about it are necessary to a robust anthropology By demystifying a phase begun in the mid 1980s when critics considered attempts to describe fieldwork and its relation to ethnography as inevitably biased representations of the unknowable truth First Fieldwork contributes to a renewed interest in experiential and theoretical nuances of fieldwork Looking back on the richest of fieldwork experiences the contributors uncover essential structures and challenges of fieldwork connection context and change What they find is that building relationships and having others include you in their lives once referred to as achieving rapport is determined as much by our subjects as by ourselves As they examine connections made or attempted during first fieldwork and bring to bear subsequent understandings and questions new contexts from which to view and think about their experiences the contributors provide readers with multidimensional perspectives on fieldwork and how it continues to inspire anthropological interpretations and commitment A crucial dimension is change Each chapter is richly detailed in history theirs ours colonial postcolonial and the then and now of theory and practice While change is ever present specifics are not Reflecting back the authors demonstrate how that specificity defined their experiences and ultimately their ethnographic re productions
