South Asian FilmScapes Elora Halim Chowdhury, Esha Niyogi De, 2020-11-30. New political realities and shared histories connect film cultures across borders. In South Asia massive anticolonial movements in the twentieth century created nation states and reset national borders forming the basis for emerging film cultures. Following the upheaval of the partition of India and Pakistan in 1947 and the Bangladesh Liberation War of 1971 new national cinemas promoted and reinforced prevailing hierarchies of identity and belonging. At the same time industrial and independent cinemas contributed to remarkably porous and hybrid film cultures reflecting the intertwining of South Asian histories and their reciprocal cultural influences. This cross fertilization within South Asian cultural production continues today. South Asian FilmScapes excavates these complex politics and poetics of bordered identity and crossings through selected histories of cinema in South Asia. Several essays reveal ways in which fixed notions of national identity have been destabilized by the cross border mobility of filmed arts and practitioners while others interrogate how filmic politics intersects with discourses of nationalism, sexuality and gender, religion and language. Together they offer a fluid approach to the multiple histories and encounters that conjure South Asia as a geographic and political entity in the region and globally through a cinematic imagination.

From the Margins to New Ground Lea Hagoel, Devorah Kalekin-Fishman, 2015-12-23. The authors two sociologists discover, follow up, examine and make sense of the cross roads where the social and life sciences meet. They are surprised by the emergent story which they simultaneously witness and document. Together they focus on Lea Hagoel's professional path as a medical sociologist fitting in with bio-medical scientific work patterns of a multi disciplinary team of physicians, nurses, bio statisticians, IT personnel, molecular biologists and managerial administrative team members. Lea shared her experiences with Devorah and what developed into this book consists of the story itself, the unfolding of events as observed and described by Lea who tells what it was like for a sociologist. Her story unfolds in the context of the ongoing dialogue which lasted more than two decades and turned into an autoethnography deux. Finally the ethnographers offer insights into the world of biology and medicine into women's lives into being a native in a disciplinary culture and into transdisciplinarity. In three parts the book describes and theorizes the quest of a medical sociologist for transdisciplinarity. Part I explores the theoretical background. Part II presents the story of different stages in Lea's experiences tracing the trajectory of her growing professional repertoire and discovering the practical meaning of how cross disciplinary knowledge affects her performance as a researcher in the organization with which she is affiliated Part III draws conclusions about what moving between disciplines can mean for a researcher

Actionable Postcolonial Theory in Education V. Andreotti, 2011-10-03 Andreotti illustrates how postcolonial theory is applied in the contexts of educational research critique and in pioneering pedagogical projects. She offers an accessible and useful overview and comparison of theoretical debates related to critiques of Western Northern hegemony For a New Classic Sociology Alain Caillé, Frédéric Vandenberghe, 2020-10-25 This book examines the future of the social sciences and the reconstruction of society in contemporary times. Drawing on the lead piece For a New Classic Sociology it calls for a new theoretical synthesis that overcomes the fragmentation specialization and professionalization within the social sciences. The position paper and the responses by a team of world class social theorists provide an alternative to utilitarianism and the colonization of the social sciences by rational choice models. propose a new articulation of social theory and moral social and political philosophy. It recommends a return to classical social theory and explores articulations between theories of reciprocity care and recognition. A radical intervention in the study of the social sciences the volume will be indispensable to scholars and researchers across the social sciences especially social theory and sociology and social anthropology.

Rather than focusing on active participants and active participation the objective is to scrutinize the whole adult population in terms of participation and to pay special attention to those who are so easily left out of studies concerning adult education learning at work or active participation in civil society. The aim of the book is to bring into the discussion the views of those who do not find attending adult education possible and who thus form a challenge for the promotion of active citizenship. In the collection of articles researchers from various disciplines and with cross disciplinary interests in adult education and marginalisation meet and discuss with each other within and beyond their own disciplines
