New Thinking In Economics:

Economic Policies of the New Thinking in Economics Philip Arestis, Malcolm Sawyer, 2014-10-20 The financial crisis and the great recession have generated the need for new thinking in economics and for new economic policies to secure sustainable and equitable economic development The new thinking in economics is an interdisciplinary approach to economic problems that acknowledges and respects insights and analyses from other disciplines and recognizes complexity and evolutionary theory as relevant for understanding economic systems and economic behaviour New Economics is concerned with institutional behaviour expectations and uncertainty as opposed to traditional economics with its emphasis on equilibrium mathematical formalism and deterministic solutions With the financial crisis brought on by the unrestrained pursuit of personal and corporate profit sanctioned by traditional economics this is an opportune moment to establish a new way of approaching economic understanding based on new economic theory It is also a good time to instigate new ideas on the approach to economic policy across a wide range of areas such as macroeconomic and global governance employment and unemployment social security and pensions This book is devoted to developing economic policies from the new thinking It was originally published as a special issue of the International Review of Applied Economics

New Thinking in Economics J. R. Shackleton, 1990 The deftly written surveys prepared to a common format successfully overcome the compartmentalisation of modern economics and present an overview of different areas that will be widely welcomed both by the specialist and the student alike A major objective of the book is to present authoritative surveys of the most recent developments in a lively and accessible form for undergraduate students

Institutional Competition Andreas Bergh, Rolf Höijer, 2008-01-01 This book has much to commend it because of the richness and diversity of the issues addressed Indira Rajaraman Tax Justice Focus The volume offers substantial insights into the nature of institutional competition focusing mostly on governmental institutions and shows the many subtleties in understanding and analyzing the role of institutions Institutional competition is a small subset of institutional analysis but an important one and while the volume does cover the more familiar tax and expenditure topics it also delves more deeply into the subject Randall G Holcombe Public Choice While economists typically praise the merits of competition among market based enterprises they are not so sure when it comes to competition among institutions especially governments I am aware of no better source for thoughtful reflection on competition among institutions than the ten essays presented in this book Richard E Wagner George Mason University US Why is competition between institutions usually viewed in a negative light when competition is considered positive in most other economic contexts The contributors to this volume introduce new perspectives on this issue analytically and empirically exploring reasons for this perception Negative assessments of institutional competition emphasize that such competition may lead to a race to the bottom in terms of eroding government revenues redistributing wealth from workers to capitalists and limiting democracy by forcing politicians to prioritize international investment capital rather than working for their voters In this volume however many of the essays draw attention to the positive learning and information effects The contributors conclude that competition may actually lead to institutions becoming more efficient in allocating resources Students and scholars of economics political economy international relations and political science will find the book s non traditional take on institutional competition a must read as will policy analysts and those with an interest in taxation and welfare states

Introduction to Behavioral Economics Uwem Essia,2023-03-13 With the Covid pandemic the crises in economic thinking identified since the mid 1960ss have come back to focus Principally it has become more obvious now that thoughts and perceptions affect the economic decisions people make as much as prices and incomes Economics is thus not an exact science but an interpretive discipline and a diagnostic science It is also obvious that economic thinking actions are shaped by social consciousness The universe of economics is cultural and common thinking is essentially intergenerational Mental cultural relationships affect human behavior and shape how households firms civil society and even governments reason and act Hence to be relevant the new economics has to be behavioral less deterministic less individualistic and more culturally and ideologically inspired Prof Uwem Essia is an economist with many years of teaching research and consulting experience in economics the management sciences and related human development fields He is currently engaged in private studies and publishing

The Neoliberal Revolution in Eastern Europe Paul Dragos Aligica, Anthony John Evans, 2009-01-01 Very few studies have ventured to explore the shift in economic ideas that were such a critical factor in shaping and understanding the East European transition process Paul Dragos Aligica and Anthony J Evans have seized upon the potential that this crucial case has to illuminate the larger phenomenon of diffusion and adoption of economic ideas Two different but related research agendas are developed the study of the spread of neoliberalism as seen from the perspective of Eastern European post communist evolutions and the study of Eastern European transition as seen from an ideas centered perspective Combining a distinctive synthesis of the existing data about the spread of neoliberal economic ideas in Central and Eastern Europe with an analysis of the processes at work the authors challenge a series of misunderstandings and myths about the spread of neoliberal economic ideas The disputed topics include the myth of an Eastern European rush to embrace the theories and ideas that may be considered the mark of market fundamentalism the notion that a harsh neoliberal dogmatism was somehow imposed on the region from outside the idea that the standardization and regimentation of economic thinking was a result of the spread of the Western way of doing economics and the belief that the Eastern Europeans passively embraced this uniformity and standardization due to pressure from the Westerners This unusual synthesis will appeal to scholars in economics political science communist post communist studies and new institutionalism as well as policymakers

From Corporate Globalization to Global Co-operation Tom Webb, 2016-10-20T00:00:00Z This book is about the need for an alternative to capitalism But what does that alternative look like And given the ever increasing wealth and power of the 1 percent and the fact that corporations are given carte blanche to turn natural resources into profit is an alternative possible Tom Webb argues that a massive shift to social enterprise primarily co operatives is required More than 250 million people around the world work for co operatives and co operatives impact the lives of three billion people This model reduces almost every negative impact of capitalism it is a model that works Webb outlines the principles co operatives need to hold to if they are to be a successful alternative to capitalism and examines the public policy changes needed to nurture such a transition but he remains neither wildly optimistic nor unduly pessimistic A better world is possible but it is not inevitable

Governance and Economic Development Joachim Ahrens, 2002-01-01 this volume is an excellent resource for those interested in the analysis of institutions design and economic development Oscar Alfranca Progress in Development Studies The main theme of this study is the political economy of policy reform in less developed countries and post socialist countries Given the complexity of economic development and transition Joachim Ahrens views failures in policy reform poor public sector management rent seeking corruption and over centralization as systematic though not exclusive instances of institutional failure
