Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1993 First multi year cumulation covers six years 1965 70 National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1992 New Trends in Allergy IV Johannes Ring, Heidrun Behrendt, Dieter Vieluf, 2012-12-06 There is no doubt among experts that the prevalence of allergic diseases has increased in many industrialized countries in recent years. The reasons for this increase are unknown; only suppositions exist. Many people focus on environmental influences. However, the assumption that air pollution alone is responsible for this increase seems to be too simple; many other influences including the genetic predisposition of individual patients, allergen exposure and possibly socioeconomic factors also have to be taken into consideration. Although our understanding of the complex mechanisms of allergic diseases has considerably improved thanks to the progress made in experimental immunology and allergology, we still have a long way to go before this scientific knowledge is translated into new therapeutic modalities. For this reason, the scientific community welcomed the gathering of scientists from very different disciplines and different parts of the world at an international symposium New Trends in Allergy IV together with Environmental Allergy and Allergotoxicology III in Hamburg in 1995. This volume contains the invited papers covering a wide range from basic science to practical clinical diagnosis and therapy. A further unique feature of this event was the concomitant first official workshop of the Environmental Pollution and Allergy Committee of the International Association of Allergy and Clinical Immunology (IAACI) at which the state of scientific knowledge in this field was defined and formulated.

Handbook of Atopic Eczema Johannes Ring, Bernhard Przybilla, Thomas Ruzicka, 2006-02-23. Atopic eczema/atopic dermatitis/neurodermitis/diffusa/endogenous eczema is one of the most common skin diseases of our time and is still increasing in prevalence dramatically all over the world. The reasons for this increase are not known. It occurs at any age, not only in childhood; approximately 2-3% of children affected will suffer from this disease when they are grown up. Written by leading experts of their field, this second edition comprises the state of the art in pathophysiology, clinical medicine and therapeutic management. It demonstrates that there is no simple miracle cream, pill or diet for this disease, but that a disturbed barrier function can only be repaired by adequate and individualized skin care and it shows how unspecific anti-inflammatory treatment has to be individually tailored according to body area affected, patient age and acuity of skin lesions. All physicians will find this book most helpful in the painstaking search for the individual causal or eliciting factors.
