New Vernacular Architecture:

New Vernacular Architecture Vicky Richardson, 2001 New Vernacular Architecture considers the synthesis of modernity and tradition in contemporary architecture Focusing on 37 international examples of buildings of different types completed in the last decade it examines architecture that reinterprets rather than revives traditional forms materials and construction techniques The projects covered range from better known works by renowned architects such as Michael Graves Renzo Piano and David Chipperfield to less familiar buildings in Hungary Nepal Latvia and elsewhere The fragmentation of nation states and the greater plurality of political and cultural identities that have occurred over recent years have led to a growing reaction in architecture against global blanding the worldwide homogenization of images and designs As a result local context materials and culture are becoming increasingly important concerns for many architects Architecture has captured the public imagination as a means of lending form to evolving regional identity and as a way of reflecting difference Each project features a thoroughly researched and detailed commentary and is generously illustrated with photographs sketches and plans BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved Lessons from Vernacular Architecture Willi Weber, Simos Yannas, 2013-08-15 The architectural community has had a strong and continuing interest in traditional and vernacular architecture Lessons from Vernacular Architecture takes lessons directly from traditional and vernacular architecture and offers them to the reader as guidance and inspiration for new buildings The appropriate technical and social solutions provided by vernacular and traditional architecture are analysed in detail International case studies focus on environmental design aspects of traditional architecture in a broad range of climatic conditions and building types Learning from Vernacular Pierre Frey, 2010 In 1964 Bernard Rudofsky curated the exhibition Architecture Without Architects at The Museum of Modern Art in New York thereby drawing the attention of the postwar Western public to traditional architectures rescuing them from the ignominy to which they had been consigned by the national ideologies of Europe in the 1930s In the early 1980s Ivan Illich published a number of radical critiques of modernity in which he drew attention to vernacular values proposing a trenchant but hospitable definition of this term It derives from Roman law in which everything produced within the household for consumption within the household and not for sale or exchange is vernacular In order to locate this proposition within the field of architectural criticism this book borrows with ironic intent part of the title of Robert Venturi s celebrated work Learning from Las Vegas 1977 which launched the fashion for post modernism in architecture Taking advantage of a collection of maquettes of vernacular architecture the only one of its kind in the world whose special attributes he highlights and whose value he underlines the author selects contemporary realisations by architects from Africa Asia America and Europe that seem to him to constitute a new vernacular architecture The emphasis here is on materials available on the fringes of the market on the safeguarding and development of traditional know how on the social role of the architect and on the teaching of architecture New Technologies for Sustainable Development Jean-Claude Bolay, Silvia Hostettler, Eileen Hazboun, 2013-08-04 Whilst scientific research can be crucial in guiding innovation and development throughout the world it can be too detached from real world applications particularly in developing and emerging countries Technologies for Sustainable Development brings together the best 20 papers from the 2012 Conference of the EPFL UNESCO Chair in Technologies for Development with the aim to explore and discuss ways to link scientific research with development practices to assist practitioners and reply directly to social needs In order for technologies to be adopted it is not sufficient that they are low cost and affordable but also socially culturally and environmentally accepted by the intended users Technologies for Sustainable Development aims to explore and answer the following three questions What is an appropriate technology How can we ensure a sustainable integrated development What are the conditions for co creation and transfer of such technologies Focusing on the importance of improving working relationships between stakeholders researchers and decision makers between scientists and industrial sectors between academics and the population Technologies for Sustainable Development opens a dialogue necessary to create and implement the best solutions adapted to social demands Architecture and Anthropology Adam Jasper, 2020-05-21 Both architecture and anthropology emerged as autonomous theoretical disciplines in the 18th century enlightenment Throughout the 19th century the fields shared a common icon the primitive hut and a common concern with both routine needs and ceremonial behaviours Both could lay strong claims to a special knowledge of the everyday And yet in the 20th century notwithstanding genre classics such as Bernard Rudofsky's Architecture without Architects or Paul Oliver's Shelter and various attempts to make architecture anthropocentric such as Corbusier's Modulor disciplinary exchanges between architecture and anthropology were often disappointingly slight This book attempts to locate the various points of departure that might be taken in a contemporary discussion between architecture and anthropology The results are radical post colonial theory is here counterpoised to 19th century theories of primitivism archaeology is set against dentistry fieldwork is juxtaposed against indigenous critique and climate science is applied to questions of shelter This publication will be of interest to both architects and anthropologists The chapters in this book were originally published within two special issues of Architectural Theory Review Vernacular Architecture Mete Turan, 2024-11-07 Originally published in 1990 as part of the Ethnoscapes Current Challenges in the Environmental Social Sciences series reissued now with a new series introduction Vernacular Architecture Paradigms of Environmental Response was not meant to be collection to represent one view or approach The only unifying element among the essays is the subject matter It is clear that there are not only disagreements over the interpretation of objective facts but more essentially there is a fundamental difference in the pursuit of scientific knowledge However regardless of these differences if the present volume as an attempt to create a theoretical construct called into question the ideographic approaches which do not penetrate the surface which persistently deal with formal qualities and which are content with only simple deterministic relations then it satisfies the major criterion that this collection of essays set for itself namely to broaden the scope of discussion Surveying and Evaluating Vernacular Architecture Midwest Vernacular Architecture Committee, 1991 Design and the Vernacular Paul Memmott, John Ting, Tim O'Rourke, Marcel Vellinga, 2023-11-16 Design and the Vernacular explores the intersection between vernacular architecture local cultures and modernity and globalization focussing on the vast and diverse global region of Australasia and Oceania The relevance and role of vernacular architecture in contemporary urban planning and architectural design are examined in the context of rapid political economic technological social and environmental changes including globalization exchanges of people finance material culture and digital technologies Sixteen chapters by architects designers and theorists including Indigenous writers explore key questions about the agency of vernacular architecture in shaping contemporary building and design practice These questions include How have Indigenous building traditions shaped modern building practices What can the study of vernacular architecture contribute to debates about sustainable development And how has vernacular architecture been used to argue for postcolonial modernisation and nation building and what has been the effect on heritage and conservation Such questions provide valuable case studies and lessons for architecture in other global regions and challenge assumptions about vernacular architecture being anachronistic and static instead demonstrating how it can shape contemporary architecture nation building and cultural identities Paradise Valley, Nevada Howard W.

Marshall,1995 Stonemasons from the Alpine valleys of northwestern Italy shaped the architectural face of Paradise Valley in northern Nevada in the 1860s and 1870s Drawing on their own distinctive skills they constructed the constellation of granite and sandstone buildings that are the region s most visible landmarks Marshall s analysis of this architectural legacy illustrated with 229 photographs and 70 line drawings is not only a valuable resource for scholars in vernacular architecture folklore and cultural geography but also a verbal and visual treat for all who love the American West Imagining Slovene Socialist Modernity Veronica E. Aplenc,2023-03-15 After the Second World War Yugoslavia s small regional cities represented a challenge for the new socialist state These cities older buildings local historic sites and low quality housing clashed with socialism s promises and ideals How would the state transform these cities everyday neighborhoods In the Slovene republic s capital city of Ljubljana the Trnovo neighborhood embodied this challenge through its modest housing small medieval section vast gardens acclaimed interwar architecture and iconic local reputation Imagining Slovene Socialist Modernity explores how urban planners architects historic preservationists neighborhood residents and even folklorists transformed this beloved neighborhood into a Slovene socialist city district Aplenc demonstrates that this urban redesign centered on republic level interpretations of a Yugoslav socialist built environment versus a re envisioned Slovene national past or design style This interdisciplinary study sheds light on how Yugoslav state socialism operated at the republic level within a decentralized system and on the diverse forces behind success or failure With its focus on vernacular architecture small scale historic sites single family homes and illegal housing this book expands our understanding of the everyday built environment in socialist cities VERSUS: Heritage for Tomorrow Correia, Mariana,Dipasquale, Letizia,Mecca, Saverio,2014 Vernacular architecture represents a great resource that has considerable potential to define principles for sustainable design and contemporary architecture This publication is the result of an overall aim to produce a valuable tool for analysis regarding vernacular heritage through different assessments in order to define principles to consider for sustainable development This was possible through a comprehensive reflection on the principles established and the strategies to recognise in different world contexts The present publication was the result of an in depth approach by 46 authors from 12 countries concerned with the analysis and critical assessment of vernacular heritage and its sustainable perspective The book presents 8 chapters addressing operational definitions and synopses advances regarding the main areas of vernacular heritage contribution to sustainable architecture It also presents 15 chapters and 53 case studies of vernacular and contemporary approaches in all the 5 continents regarding urban architectural technical and constructive strategies and solutions VERSUS HERITAGE FOR TOMORROW Vernacular Knowledge for Sustainable Architecture is the result of a common effort undertaken by the partners ESG Escola Superior Gallaecia Portugal as Project leader CRAterre cole Nationale Sup rieuse d Architecture de Grenoble France DIDA Universit degli Studi di Firenze Italy DICAAR Universit degli Studi di Cagliari Italy and UPV Universitat Polit cnica de Val ncia Spain This is the final outcome of VerSus an European
