Wilemon,1969 Managing the Dynamics of New Product Development Processes Arie Karniel,Yoram Reich,2011-07-28 Managing the Dynamics of New Product Development Processes merges product based planning process modelling process execution probabilistic simulations and simulation based decision making into one framework called the Dynamic new Product Development Process It provides readers with a means of improving the management of product development through enhanced methods and tools that are specifically tailored to the characteristics and challenges of such processes. It calls for a new Product Lifecycle Management paradigm of utilizing the managed product data for management of the product's development process. Within the framework the methods used are enhanced or modified to fit the new product development process requirements. Each specific method is exhaustively analyzed from the basic definition of terms through a description of the state of the art of that topic and its limitations. Then the method enhancements are illustrated by many examples and discussed while suggesting further research directions. Finally the enhanced methods are integrated and demonstrated by a test case. The main two methods described are the design structure matrix DSM and Petri nets which are merged into a novel concept entitled DSM nets. Managing the Dynamics of New Product Development Processes provides algorithms, proofs and practical examples that can be used for general study of the issues concerned. The main concepts presented are applicable to systems engineering and can be used by practitioners of product development processes such as designers, product managers and process managers as well as developers of process management tools for systems with dynamically changing process structures.

Anderson, 2013-12 What is a product manager without a product Nothing That's why it's so very important that when a product is being developed that the product manager be involved Now exactly how best to go about doing that is an entirely different question What You'll Find Inside TRACKING YOUR PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT WHAT WORKS WHAT DOESN'T HOW DO YOU KNOW IF YOUR PRODUCT IS ON TRACK OR IN THE WEEDS A NEW WAY FOR PRODUCT MANAGERS TO DISCOVER BREAKTHROUGH PRODUCT FEATURES ADVANCED JOB MAPPING FOR PRODUCT MANAGERS The process from having an idea for a product to actually having a product is a long and treacherous road So many things can go wrong that either cause the schedule to have to be extended or cause a product with the wrong features to be developed A product manager needs to discover ways to stay involved in the process while at the same time not slowing things down That being said a product manager is not a project manager There can be a number of similarities between the jobs but a product manager is responsible for so much more than a project manager The difference between the roles has to be understood and communicated to everyone who is involved in the creation of the product The good news about product development is that it is something that has been done many times at other firms By taking the time to study their successes and failures product managers can learn what they need to be looking for in order to detect development issues before they derail a development project Creating a way to map how a customer performs their job can provide the input that is needed for a development program It can be all too easy to include or exclude features from a product that the customer will feel strongly about Taking the time to understand how your customer will use the product that you are developing is the key to creating a successful product This book has been created to pull all of these ideas together into one place for product managers By reading the book you will be able to discover just exactly what the role of a product manager should be during the product development process By doing this you can ensure that when it's all done you'll have a product that your customer will want to buy For more information on what it takes to be a great product manager check out my blog The Accidental Product Manager at www.TheAccidentalPM.com
