New Museums:

The New Museum John Cotton Dana,1917

New Museums and the Making of Culture Kylie Message,2024-11-01

In the last decade museums all around the world have been reinventing themselves They are now much more than scholarly cultural archives A remit to reach out to a broader public the increasing politicization of the ownership and curation of objects the architectural expectations of new buildings the requirements of the event exhibit all have changed the way any new museum is built operates and serves its public purpose Museums now reflect global economics and local politics New museums now shape our public culture Illustrated with a very wide range of museums and museum spaces from MOMA in New York to the reconstruction of Ground Zero from the National Museum of the American Indian in Washington DC to the Museo Guggenheim Bilbao from the planned renewal of the Crystal Palace site in London to the Sendai Mediatheque in Japan the book reveals how the new museum is evolving as a cross disciplinary self consciously political and often avowedly self reflexive institution

The New Museum of Modern Art Glenn D. Lowry,Terence Riley,2005

For the past few years The Museum of Modern Art has been in the midst of the largest building project in its history Designed by Yoshio Taniguchi the new museum will open in midtown Manhattan in November 2004 2005 to coincide with MoMA s 75th anniversary The 630 000 square foot complex is nearly twice the size of the former facility with dramatically expanded and redesigned spaces for exhibitions public programming educational outreach and scholarly research In his initial proposal Taniguchi explained that his goal was to create an ideal environment for art and people through the imaginative and disciplined use of light materials and space His stated vision of a museum that preserves and reinforces MoMA s unique character as the repository of an incomparable collection of modern and contemporary art as a pioneer of museums of modern art with a unique historical inheritance and as an urban institution in a midtown Manhattan location has been resoundingly implemented The New Museum of Modern Art offers an affordable concise overview of the new building and its master architect by Glenn D Lowry Director of The Museum of Modern Art The User Perspective on Twenty-First-Century Art Museums Georgia Lindsay,2016-04-14 The User Perspective on Twenty First Century Art Museums explains contemporary museums from the whole gamut of user experiences whether users are preserving art creating an exhibit visiting or part of institutions that use the architecture for branding Fourteen museums from the United States Europe China and Australia represent new construction repurposed buildings and additions offering examples for most museum design situations Each is examined using interviews with key stakeholders photographs and analyses of press coverage to identify lessons from the main user groups User groups vary from project to project depending on conditions and context so each of the four parts of the book features a summary of the users and issues in that section for quick reference The book concludes with a practical straightforward lessons learned summary and a critical assessment of twenty first century museum architecture programming and expectations to help you embark on a new building design Architects architecture students museum professionals and aficionados of museum design will all find helpful insights in these lessons and critiques

Museums and Public Art? Cher Krause Knight,Harriet F. Senie,2018-06-11 While many museums have ignored public art as a distinct arena of art production and display others have either grudgingly or enthusiastically embraced it Some institutions have partnered with public art agencies to expand the scope of special exhibitions other museums have attempted to establish in house public art programs This is the first book to contextualize the collaborations between museums and public art through a range of essays marked by their coherence of topical focus written by leading and emerging scholars and artists Organized into three sections it represents a major contribution to the field of art history in general and to those of public art and museum studies in particular It includes essays by art historians critics curators arts administrators and artists all of whom help to finally codify the largely unwritten history of how museums and public art have and continue to intersect Key questions are both addressed and offered as topics for further discussion Who originates such public art initiatives funds them and most importantly establishes the philosophy behind them Is the efficacy of these initiatives evaluated in the same way as other museum exhibitions and programs Can public art ever be a permanent feature in any museum And finally are the museum and public art ultimately at odds or able to mutually benefit one another

Heritage tourism has become an increasingly significant component of the global tourism industry particularly in countries striving to diversify away from sea sand and sun This growth has had profound influences on the presentation and representation of both tangible and intangible heritage within tourism context The concept of heritage continues to evolve with its fast changing political economic and socio cultural surroundings Therefore it is essential that heritage tourism engages with the new form of globalised communities and societies which have become more assimilated to each other but yet strive to sustain their own distinctive locality This book aims to offer a thorough critical examination and systematic evaluation of the unique dynamics of heritage and tourism development from both social sciences and management perspectives It incorporates both global and local perspectives in theorising and managing heritage tourism While focusing on reviewing and analysing key academic concepts and debates including authenticity commodification globalisation and heritage interpretation this book also discusses and evaluates topical issues such as sustainable development marketing strategies and digital technologies including social media It theoretically locates heritage discourses in the analysis of heritage tourism development and management drawing on various perspectives from tourism heritage studies sociology anthropology politics and geography to management and marketing studies Including case studies of topical concerns controversies and challenges it will encourage readers to develop a new and insightful understanding of the dialectical relationship between heritage and tourism development This book is essential reading for students studying tourism heritage studies cultural studies as well as related disciplines The Museum ,1925 Museum publications Jan 1929 v 2 p 28 32
