New Theatre Quarterly 65:

New Theatre Quarterly 65: Volume 17, Part 1 Clive Barker, Simon Trussler, 2001-02-08 Provides an international forum where theatrical scholarship and practice can meet Voice and New Writing, 1997-2007 M. Inchley, 2015-03-14 In New Labour's empathetic regime how did diverse voices scrutinize its etiquettes of articulation and audibility? Using the voice as cultural evidence, Voice and New Writing explores what it means to have a voice in mainstream theatre and for newly included voices to negotiate with the institutions that find and represent their identities Shaw and the Actresses

Franchise League Ellen Ecker Dolgin, 2015-03-16 Early 20th century non-commercial theaters emerged as hubs of social transformation on both sides of the Atlantic. The 1904-1907 seasons at London's Royal Court Theatre were a particularly galvanizing force with 11 plays by Bernard Shaw along with works by Granville Barker, John Galsworthy and Elizabeth Robins that starred activist performers and challenged social conventions. Many of these plays were seen on American stages. Featuring more conversation than plot points, the new drama collectively urged audiences to recognize themselves in the characters. In 1908, four hundred actresses attended a London hotel luncheon determined to effect change for women. The hot topics chillingly pertinent today mixed public and private controversies over sexuality, income distribution and full citizenship across gender and class lines. A resolution emerged to form the Actresses Franchise League which produced original suffrage plays, participated in mass demonstrations and collaborated with ordinary women Twenty-First Century Drama Siân Adiseshiah, Louise LePage, 2016-06-17 Within this landmark collection, original voices from the field of drama provide rich analysis of a selection of the most exciting and remarkable plays and productions of the twenty-first century. But what makes the drama of the new millennium so distinctive? Which events, themes, shifts and paradigms are marking its stages?

Kaleidoscopic in scope, Twenty First Century Drama: What Happens Now creates a broad, rigorously critical framework for approaching the drama of this period including its forms, playwrights, companies, institutions, collaborative projects and directors. The collection has a deliberately British bent, examining established playwrights such as Churchill, Brenton and Hare alongside a new generation of writers including Stephens, Prebble, Kirkwood, Bartlett and Kelly. Simultaneously international in scope, it engages with significant new work from the US, Japan, India, Australia and the Netherlands to reflect a twenty-first century context that is fundamentally globalized. The volume's central themes—the financial crisis, austerity, climate change, new forms of human being, migration, class, race and gender, cultural politics and issues of nationhood—are mediated through fresh, cutting-edge perspectives Acting on Cultural Policy Jane Woddis, 2023-01-01 This book investigates the role of arts practitioners in cultural policy making, challenging the perception that arts practitioners have little or no involvement in policy and seeking to discover the extent and form of their engagement. Examining the subject through a case study of playwriting policy in England since 1945 and paying particular attention to playwrights' organisations and their history of self-directed activity, the book explores practitioners' participation in cultural policy making, encompassing both invited and uninvited interventions that also weave together policy activity and creative practice It discusses why their involvement matters and argues that arts practitioners and their organisations can be understood as participants in civil society whose policy activity contributes to the maintenance and enlargement of democratic practices and values

Theatre Notebook ,1972 Bulletin of Bibliography and Magazine Subject-index ,1909 The Politics and Aesthetics of Refusal Caroline Hamilton,2007 The Politics and Aesthetics of Refusal is an eclectic collection of essays from emerging academics who engage with the notion of oerefusal both as the embodiment of a resistance to conventional boundaries between academic disciplines and as a concept with an underlying negative or reactive force that can be widely interpreted and applied The applications of oerefusal outlined in this volume ranging from activism and the politics of cultural production through to problems of identity and knowledge classification raise questions about often elided relationships of agency and complicity in routine experience The sense of oerefusal that emerges from this book is perhaps most easily classified by what it is not namely a prescriptive conclusive or unified account of what it is to reject react or work against any particular instance of theory or practice in any given domain The value of a thematically oriented collection like this is its ability to work across disciplines media and philosophical frameworks rather than limiting its focus to a narrow territory According to Herbert Marcuse refusal must not only be the guiding principle for all artistic creation it must also be a manifestation of artistic creation itself With this volume we have attempted to compose a collection which is not only theoretically guided by refusal but practically informed by it as well The collection in itself constitutes we hope a constructive rejection of the usual constrictions of discipline and approach placed upon new scholars This rich collection of essays on the political aesthetic and ethical dimensions of that form of social action called refusal is an important contribution to our understanding of the tensions and contradictions of contemporary culture John Frow Professor of English Literary Studies at the University of Melbourne The Era Annual ,1888 Researching Popular Entertainment Kim Baston,Jason Price,2024-12-27

Researching Popular Entertainment is an essential volume for scholars delving into the vibrant yet complex world of popular entertainment Written by a global network of experts this book addresses the unique challenges researchers face in this field The often dismissed status of popular entertainment coupled with its reliance on physicality and improvisation over scripted performances has meant archival and textual sources tend to be more limited than in related theatre and performance disciplines This scarcity requires historians to find alternative pathways through the available materials to recuperate seemingly insignificant figures and performance forms from our cultural past This book provides a candid look into the research processes of its authors highlighting some of the approaches they have adopted to overcome these challenges It emphasises that reading performance as entertainment is a deliberate methodological choice Regardless of whether a work is deemed high or low art legitimate or illegitimate understanding how it captivates its audience is central to the study of entertainment Readers will benefit from its in depth analysis and practical guidance making it an indispensable resource for
