Carolin Müller-Spitzer, 2014-08-22 Until now there has been very little research into the use of online dictionaries In contrast the market for online dictionaries is increasing both for academic lexicography and for commercial lexicography with sales figures for printed reference works in continual decline This has led to a demand for reliable empirical information on how online dictionaries are actually being used and how they could be made more user friendly The volume Using Online Dictionaries makes a substantial contribution to closing this research gap It is divided into four parts The first part contains articles on fundamental issues a research review of the empirical studies on digital dictionaries which have already been carried out and a brief methodological guideline for lexicographical researchers who are interested in conducting their own empirical research The second part contains the results of two studies that focus on general questions about the use of online dictionaries It presents empirical data on contexts of dictionary use on expectations and demands regarding online dictionaries Furthermore innovative features such as the use of multimedia elements or the option of a user adaptive interface and questions of design were assessed empirically The third part of this volume comprises more specific studies of online dictionaries an eye tracking study evaluating the new web design of the dictionary portal OWID and a log file study which tries to get to the bottom of the following question Do dictionary users look up frequent words or put differently is there a connection between how often a word is looked up and how often it appears in a corpus In the last chapter of this thematic section the question of how users judge the combination of a written paraphrase and an additional illustration in illustrated online dictionaries is addressed The last part focuses on the use of monolingual dictionaries in particular the German online dictionary eleXiko In this context two online questionnaire based studies were carried out The empirical studies were conducted in the form of online surveys combining questionnaires and experimental elements and in the form of laboratory studies using eye tracking technology as well as using observational methods such as log file analyses Regarding the comprehensive research framework this volume can be relevant to lexicographers metalexicographers and linguists who are interested in the use of online dictionaries and in the development and exploration of lexicographical data for the internet as well as linguists interested in empirical methods It addresses a broad expert audience by presenting an academic subject which is currently the focus of much discussion

Portfolios in the Writing Classroom

Kathleen Blake Yancey, 1992 This collection of 10 essays argues that portfolios in the writing classroom are worth exploring and that such exploration opens up new opportunities new ways to learn to write to think about teaching writing to understand students teachers and curricula and to describe and report on what is found The collection makes this argument by sharing the stories of teachers in various situations teachers alone teachers as team members and teachers concerned with administration as well as learning Three key points are made that portfolios should be designed locally by teachers and students that they require periodic review and that through such reviews more can be learned about writing and its teaching The articles and authors are as follows 1 Introduction Writing Portfolios Changes and Challenges Catharine Lucas 2 Teacher's Stories Notes toward a Portfolio Pedagogy Kathleen Blake Yancey 3 Increasing Student Autonomy through Portfolios Sue

Ellen Gold 4 Portfolio Practice in the Middle School One Teacher's Story James E Newkirk 5 Portfolios Process for Students and Teachers Catherine D Aoust 6 Looking into Portfolios Sandra Murphy and Mary Ann Smith 7 Portfolio Reflections in Middle and Secondary School Classrooms Roberta Camp 8 Writing Portfolios in Secondary Schools David Kneeshaw 9 Portfolio Practice and Assessment for Collegiate Basic Writers Irwin Weiser and 10 Portfolios in the Writing Classroom A Final Reflection Kathleen Blake Yancey A 39 item annotated bibliography of resources on portfolios for teaching and assessment concludes the volume SR Kapulongan Hope Sabanpan-Yu, 2008

Disciplines as Frameworks for Student Learning Tim Riordan, James Roth, 2023-07-03 What should students be able to do and how should they be able to think as a result of study in a discipline What does learning in the disciplines look like at different developmental levels How does one go about designing such learning and assessment in the disciplines What institutional structures and processes can assist faculty to engage and teach their disciplines as frameworks for student learning Creating ways to make a discipline come alive for those who are not experts even for students who may not take more than one or two courses in the disciplines they study requires rigorous thought about what really matters in a field and how to engage students in the practice of it Faculty from Alverno College representing a range of liberal arts disciplines chemistry economics history literature mathematics and philosophy here reflect on what it has meant for them to approach their disciplines as frameworks for student learning They present the intellectual biographies of their explorations the insights they have gained and examples of the practices they have adopted The authors all demonstrate how the ways of thinking they have identified as significant for their students in their respective disciplines have affected the way they design learning experiences and assessments They show how they have shaped their teaching around the ways of thinking they want their students to develop within and across their disciplines and what that means in terms of designing assessments that require students to demonstrate their thinking and understanding through application and use This book will appeal to faculty interested in going beyond mere techniques to a more substantive analysis of how their view of their respective disciplines might change when seen through the lens of student learning It will also serve the needs of graduate students trainers of teachers and anyone engaged in faculty development or interested in the scholarship of teaching
