Moscow and Chinese Communists Robert Carver North,1965    Moscow and the Emergence of Communist Power in China, 1925-30 Bruce Elleman,2009-01-30 This book examines the emergence of Communist power in China during the interwar period focusing especially on the 1927 Nanchang Uprising It explains why the Communists created the myth that the Nanchang Uprising was a success and later dated the origins of the People s Liberation Army to this event    Moscow and Chinese Communists Robert Carver North,1963

The Soviet Union and Communist China, 1945-1950 Dieter Heinzig,2004 Drawing on a wealth of new sources this work documents the evolving relationship between Moscow and Peking in the twentieth century Using newly available Russian and Chinese archival documents memoirs written in the 1980s and 1990s and interviews with high ranking Soviet and Chinese eyewitnesses the book provides the basis for a new interpretation of this relationship and a glimpse of previously unknown events that shaped the Sino Soviet alliance An appendix contains translated Chinese and Soviet documents many of which are being published for the first time The book focuses mainly on Communist China s relationship with Moscow after the conclusion of the treaty between the Soviet Union and Kuomintang China in 1945 up until the signing of the treaty between Moscow and the Chinese Communist Party in 1950 It also looks at China s relationship with Moscow from 1920 to 1945 as well as developments from 1950 to the present The author reevaluates existing sources and literature on the topic and demonstrates that the alliance was reached despite disagreements and distrust on both sides and was not an inevitable conclusion He also shows that the relationship between the two Communist parties was based on national interest politics and not on similar ideological convictions    Moscow and Chinese Communists, by Robert C. Moscow and the Emergence of Communist Power in China, 1925-30 Bruce A. Elleman,2009 This book examines the emergence of Communist power in China during the interwar period focusing especially on the role of the Soviet Union and the 1927 Nanchang Uprising It describes the history behind the alliance between the Chinese Communists and Nationalists the impact of the USSR s military and political advisers and the success of the Northern Expedition that resulted in the April 1927 purge of the Communists from the Nationalist Party It explores the debates between leading communists in Moscow notably Stalin who thought that China was ready in 1927 for an urban based Communist revolution similar to what had happened in Russia ten years before and Trotsky who opposed it It goes on examine the seizure of power in Nanchang by the Communists the establishment of China s first short lived soviet republic and the reasons why the soviet soon collapsed It explains the consequences of the rising including the adoption by the Communists of guerilla warfare the foundation of China s second soviet and after moving to northwest China during the 1930s the rise of Communist power throughout all of mainland China which culminated in the establishment of the People s Republic of China in 1949 The book stresses the importance of the mythology that evolved around the Nanchang Uprising since criticism of the Nanchang Uprising would open themselves up to accusations that they were Trotskyites the Chinese Communists created the myth that the Nanchang Uprising was a success and later dated the origins of the People's Liberation Army to this event Moscow and Chinese Communists Eugene Burdick,1963 Moscow and Chinese Communists Robert C. North,1965 New Moves by the Chinese Communists After the Moscow Conferences Asian Peoples' Anti-Communist League, Republic of China,1958

Moscow Or Peking? Alexandre Métaux,1961 Moscow-Peking Axis Howard L. Boorman,1957 Americans and Chinese Communists, 1927-1945 Kenneth E. Shewmaker,1971 Moscow And Chinese Communists Robert C. North,1953 Battling Western Imperialism Michael Sheng,2021-01-12 One of the central issues in the study of the Chinese Communist Party and its foreign policy is its relations with Moscow Was the CCP a Chinese nationalist party antagonistic to an intrusive Soviet Union or was it rather an internationalist party with ideological political and strategic military ties to Moscow faithfully adhering to Marxist Leninist principles as well as to Stalin's policy advice For the past two decades a number of historians have argued that the CCP was a nationalist movement and that the United States missed its opportunity to establish friendly relations because U.S. leaders were blinded by fears of an international Communist threat In his provocative book Michael Sheng strongly challenges this position On the basis of extensive new information obtained from recently available Chinese sources Sheng demonstrates that the foreign policy of the CCP under Mao Zedong did in fact follow the directions recommended by Joseph Stalin Sheng reveals that Mao and Stalin were in frequent and direct contact by radio and by correspondence beginning in 1936 and that Mao consistently acted on Stalin's advice Battling Western Imperialism analyzes the CCP's relations with both the Soviet Union and the United States and provides conclusive evidence that there was no lost opportunity for the U.S. in China He shows that the CCP viewed the United States as a hostile capitalist power that opposed its revolutionary aims The author has drawn on an unprecedented collection of Chinese language materials to make a powerful new argument New Moves by the Chinese communists after the Moscow conferences,1958

Red at Heart Elizabeth McGuire,2017-10-02 Red at Heart conjures a tale of cross cultural romance from a topic that is normally seen in geopolitical or ideological terms and thereby offers a new interpretation of twentieth century communism's most crucial alliance This is the multigenerational history of people who experienced Sino Soviet affairs most intimately prominent Chinese revolutionaries who traveled to Russia in their youths to study often falling in love and having children there Their deeply personal memoirs interviews with their children and a vivid collection of documents from the Russian archives allow Elizabeth McGuire to reconstruct the sexually charged physically difficult and politically dangerous lives of Chinese communists in the Soviet Union The choices they made shaped not only the lives of their children but also the postwar alliance between the People's Republic of China and Soviet Russia Red at Heart brings to life a cast of transnational characters including a son of Chiang Kai-shek and a wife of Mao Zedong who connected the two great communist revolutions in human terms Weaving personal stories and cultural interactions into political history McGuire

movingly shows that the Sino Soviet relationship was not a brotherhood or a friendship but rather played out in phases like many lifelong love affairs from first love early betrayal and love children through eventual marriage with its conveniences and annoyances guarded optimism and official heirs to divorce reconciliation and a nostalgia that lingers even today A century after 1917 this book offers a novel story about Chinese communism the Russian Revolution s most geopolitically significant legacy

Diplomacy and Deception Bruce A. Elleman,1997 Utilizes archival documents to argue against the perception that America turned its back on China during the Paris Peace Conference a belief that convinced many Chinese to turn to Soviet Russia instead The author contends that President Wilson did everything in his power to help China Chapters focus on topics such as the origins of the United Front Policy assertion of Soviet control over the Chinese Eastern Railway the restoration of Russian territorial concessions and Soviet Foreign policy and the Chinese Communist Party Annotation

Woo,1939 The Decline Of The World Communist Movement Heinz Timmermann,2019-07-11 International Communism today is split on a number of ideological and political issues and is incapable of the kind of unified action implied by the term movement So argues Heinz Timmermann in this assessment of the current state of world Communism Dr Timmermann discusses the historical concept of a world Communist movement in connection with the USSR and China Focusing on Communism in the West he examines such diverse groups as the Communist parties in Italy France Portugal Cyprus Chile and Japan Communist parties in the West are increasingly adjusting their policies to better fit their own cultures and the author links this independence to the emphasis the Soviet Union s Communist Party has been placing on the specifically Russian character of the October Revolution and Soviet state interests Apparently Moscow is now showing some flexibility in its response to tendencies toward differentiation and pluralism within the system of Communist parties Gorbachev is less concerned with ideological orthodoxy than with Communists effectively supporting Soviet foreign policy The author argues that by acceding to the concept of unity in diversity Gorbachev is signaling that the Soviet leadership is willing to look beyond the myth of a world Communist movement
