Counterfeit Cowgirl Lois Greiman, 2011-07-15 The cowboy and the city slicker To Hannah Nelson the idea of roughing it meant using her gold charge card rather than Daddy's platinum one Now however she had bad guys on her trail and she was forced into exile hiding out at the ends of the earth North Dakota Cowboy Tyrel Fox knew everything about Hannah the moment her fancy city boots hit his ranch he'd been burned by her type in the past Despite his common sense he let her stay First she set fire to the kitchen Then she dressed his newborn calves in pink cashmere Pink Hannah was also the sexiest and sassiest filly he'd ever met and before he knew what hit him she'd lassoed his heart But could Ms Rodeo Drive trade her high heels for a pair of spurs and a cowboy's love

Making Sex Public and Other Cinematic Fantasies Damon R. Young, 2018-10-04 Beginning in the late 1950s representations of and narratives about sex proliferated on French and U.S. movie screens Cinema began to display forms of sexuality that were no longer strictly associated with domesticity nor limited to heterosexual relations between loving couples Women's bodies and queer sexualities became intensely charged figures of political contestation aspiration and allegory central to new ways of imagining sexuality and to new liberal understandings of individual freedom and social responsibility In Making Sex Public Damon R. Young tracks the emergence of two conflicting narratives on the one hand a new model of sex as harmoniously integrated into civic existence on the other an idea of women's and queer sexuality as corrosive to the very fabric of social life Taking a transatlantic perspective from the late 50s through the present from And God Created Woman and Barbarella to Cruising and Shortbus Young argues that cinema participated in the transformation of the sexual subject while showing how women and queers were both agents and objects of that transformation
