Oppenheimer The Years Of Risk:

Oppenheimer, the Years of Risk James W. Kunetka, 1982 Focuses primarily on the critical and most public years of Oppenheimer's career 1942-1954 Kunetka illuminates Oppenheimer's role as one of the most influential consultants to the United States Government on matters of atomic energy including his chairmanship of the powerful General Advisory Committee of the Atomic Energy Commission and his directorship of the Los Alamos Laboratory where the first atomic bomb was successfully created In the Matter of J. Robert Oppenheimer Rachel L. Holloway, 1993-05-30 In June 1954 the Atomic Energy Commission determined that J Robert Oppenheimer wartime director of the Manhattan Project and Father of the Atomic Bomb was a security risk Consequently America's most prominent scientist was removed from government service In contrast to historical and political explanations of the Oppenheimer case Holloway explores the role that rhetoric played in Oppenheimer's demise In doing so the author draws attention to the symbolic nature of politics and character and highlights the significant interaction of political and scientific terminologies in American discourse Holloway's analysis and evaluation suggest that the accusations against Oppenheimer used the most powerful terms of the mid 1950s communism progress and science to legitimize the government's questionable action Oppenheimer for his part failed to use his most strategic rhetorical resources in his defense and therefore participated in his own ruin Holloway highlights the rhetorical interaction among accusation self defense and decision statements through a microscopic rhetorical analysis of the case's five central documents An original extension and refinement of Kenneth Burke's cluster agon method which Holloway calls terminological algebra is proposed as a systematic analytical tool consistent with Burke's theories Recommended for critics of rhetoric and political communication In the Matter of J. Robert Oppenheimer U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, 1954

In the Matter of J. Robert Oppenheimer U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, 1971 This publication brings back into print the complete testimony as released by the AEC in 1954 of the hearing called to determine if Oppenheimer was a security risk But the importance of the document goes far beyond the considered question of whether to terminate his security clearance The testimony spans Oppenheimer's personal life from the 1920s to the 1950s reflects the broader political and scientific stirrings of this period and raises issues that remain central today The document develops all these themes it is a compelling human portrait an eyewitness history of some of the most important events of the century and a flashback to one of the points of origin of our present concerns with the arms race and government decision making conscientious dissent and national loyalty The testimony is inherently dramatic as a recent play of the same title has shown In the title role Oppenheimer reveals himself as a man of Hamletlike complexity by turns humble and arrogant naive and knowing candid and reserved witty and deadly serious His final greatness makes itself felt in that joining of resignation to resolution with which he accepts the adverse outcome of his case to him inevitable and its tragic implications for the nation As background the testimony carries the reader through a number of settings the revolution in physics of the late 1920s the depression the rise of Nazism the Spanish Civil War and the American left's fascination with another sort of revolution the war years the building of the atomic bomb and the decision to use it the simultaneous opening of the U N and the Cold War and the failure to bring atomic weapons under international control and the heyday of McCarthyism with its patriotic hysteria suspicion and repression The abiding pertinence of this document is obvious It is addressed to a nation loudly debating ABM and MIRV deployment leftist politics military industrial governmental power the question of loyalty the limits of dissent and the right of a man to define for himself in conscience what the national interest is or should be as Oppenheimer did in opposing the creation of the hydrogen bomb Among those called to give witness in these matters are Fermi von Neumann Bethe DuBridge Rabi Teller Gen Groves McCloy Lilienthal Karl Compton Bush and Conant For the first time the transcript has been provided with an index
