CONTROLS AND OPERATION

1. DESCRIPTION.

The 1938 Ford Passenger Car Model 808A is powered by a 100-horsepower, 8-cylinder engine. The transmission has three forward speeds and one speed in reverse. The rear axle is of the three-quarter floating type. The car is equipped with safety glass throughout. The engine number is also the serial number of the car, and is located on the left side of the frame near the engine left front support. The frame number is also located on top of the clutch housing, and is visible through a small opening in the floor. The service brakes at each of the four wheels are of the internal expansion type hydraulically operated. The hand brake lever mechanically operates the brakes at the rear wheels.

2. DRIVER'S CONTROLS.

a. Seat Adjustment (Fig. 1). The driver's seat is easily adjusted by lifting up on the seat adjustment lever and pushing the seat backward or forward as desired.

b. Window Controls and Door Handles. The ventilating windows are locked by a latch at the bottom of the window. To unlock the ventilating windows, press the latch button and turn the latch. Each door can be locked from the inside by merely lifting the door handle all the way up.

c. Brake Pedal (Fig. 1). Two floor hydraulic brakes are provided at each of the four wheels, and are operated by a conventional foot pedal located to the right of the steering column. Each time the brake pedal is depressed sufficiently to apply the brakes, a hydraulically operated switch on the rear of the hydraulic brake master cylinder completes the stop light circuit through the stop light bulbs located in the taillights.

d. Handbrake Lever (Fig. 1). The hand brake lever is mounted to the left of the steering column behind the instrument panel. Always be sure that the hand brake lever is completely released before attempting to move the car. Depressing the brake pedal will assist in releasing the hand brake.
