Marx And Sociobiology:

Marx and Sociobiology George A. Huaco, 1999-10-27 Provocative in content this book is the only one of its kind to evaluate Marx's work in light of recent theories in sociobiology Huaco identifies several dynamic aspects of Marx's socio-cultural model and uses current research concerning the genetic basis of certain human behaviors to determine their validity Specifically he examines issues surrounding ownership relations surplus transfer and economic exploitation class struggle and the development of high culture In addition to arguing that innovation and competition are necessary to prevent a stagnant economy Huaco contends that stopping surplus transfer will not eliminate poverty as Marx maintained Instead of retaining surplus society can develop ways to recover surplus that will put an end to poverty and the social problems that stem from it Sociologists and other scholars interested in socio-economic theory will find this thought provoking work stimulating

Economics in the Shadows of Darwin and Marx Geoffrey Martin Hodgson, 2006 Darwin and Marx stand out as the supreme theorists of structural change in complex living systems This collection of essays establishes the importance of Darwinism for economics and other social sciences and compares the Darwinian legacy with that of Marx It adopts a Darwinian evolutionary approach to the analysis of institutions and routines Beast and Man Mary Midgley, 2004-03-01 Philosophers have traditionally concentrated on the qualities that make human beings different from other species In Beast and Man Mary Midgley one of our foremost intellectuals stresses continuities What makes people tick Largely she asserts the same things as animals She tells us humans are rather more like other animals than we previously allowed ourselves to believe and reminds us just how primitive we are in comparison to the sophistication of many animals A veritable classic for our age Beast and Man has helped change the way we think about ourselves and the world in which we live Reading Karl Marx Rainer Ganahl, 2001 Tir du site Internet de Book Works Evolving out of his previous work on pedagogical structures and the acquisition of knowledge Reading Karl Marx is based upon Rainer Ganahl s organisation of reading seminars as a platform for the discussion of issues and ideas Often seen as an extra artistic activity the notion of reading and discussion is used by Ganahl as a means to question artistic practice as a form of knowledge production Reading Karl Marx questions the supposed centrality of the artists function as Ganahl becomes a member of the discussion group thereby destabilising his role The publication itself is generated by his reading seminars on Marx in various educational institutions throughout Europe and the UK Alongside documentary photographs of the seminars a discussion between the artist and editor situates the practice amidst the wider cultural and social sphere You are invited to take part click here Hegel and Marx Ian Fraser,1998 This text introduces the concept of need as viewed by Hegel and Marx and places it within the context of modern need theories and theorists The book works through key texts including Hegel's Philosophy of Right and Marx's Capital and discusses the theory in relation to Soviet Communism and social democracy Covers key texts by Hegel and Marx studied by undergraduates on political theory courses Looks at political implications for modern need theory Accessible author makes good use of textual evidence Need theory is a major element of modern social theory Book Review Digest,2001-12 Marxism and the Critique of Sociobiology Stephen Edward Pomper,1987 The Mankind Quarterly Council for Social and Economic Studies (U.S.),1992 Biopolitics and International Values Ralph Pettman,1981 International Philosophical Quarterly,1995 The Politics of the Family C. L. Shannon,1989 Surface diffusion and nucleation processes have been studied in the Stranski Krastanov growth system Ag Si(111) with several Ultra High Vacuum Scanning Electron Microscopy techniques Studies of this interface have a history dating back to 1961 Within this thesis these studies are reviewed with respect in particular to structural studies Surface diffusion experiments were performed using finite patches produced by depositing through a mask with etched holes on to a Si(111) 7x7 reconstructed surface The deposits were made at rates between 0.2 and 1.4 ML/min onto atomically clean surfaces in the temperature range 675-860 K The Ag Si(111) x 5 RSO intermediate layer was visualised using biased secondary electron imaging and surface diffusion of Ag was observed over this layer Measurements of nucleation densities were carried out for regions which can be considered homogeneous on the scale of the diffusion length Patch widths and nucleation densities were both measured as a function of deposition rate and substrate temperature The experimental data was compared with predictions using kinetic steady state and time dependent models from which material parameters were obtained The equations defining these models are derived within this thesis and include a concentration dependent diffusion coefficient The calculated values for the adsorption diffusion and binding energies E_a and E_t for the Ag deposit are 2.45 ± 0.1 eV E_d 0.35 ± 0.05 eV and 0.10 ± 0.03 eV The uncertainties in these parameters reflect the lack of knowledge of the pre-exponential factors used in the models as much as the accuracy of the experiments Experiments were also carried out to measure the saturation coverage of the 3 intermediate layer The measurements taken indicate a coverage of 2.3 ML for this phase in agreement with several recent publications Horizons,1980 Cultural Anthropology Raymond Scupin,1995 Drawing on both classic and recent research in the field this introduction to anthropology integrates an historical and global approach with the ethnographic data available from around the world It reflects the understanding of social and cultural changes based on the relationships among different types of societies It aims to demonstrate the diversity of different societies and cultural patterns but also shows how humans everywhere are fundamentally similar Instructors Manual with Tests Raymond Scupin,2003-02-11 China Review
