Excerpt from Marooned A Sea Tale I returned to my lodgings in London one night in June in the year eighteen hundred and something and found a letter lying upon the table It was from my cousin Alexander Fraser and was dated at Rio Janeiro This was a man whom I had neither seen nor heard of for some years We had been sent to sea as boys in the East India Company's service and together had made three voyages in the same ship to Bombay which in those ambling days a four months passage to the Bay of Bengal was considered a good run meant a long and intimate association Through the death of my dear mother I came into money enough to render me independent and so I quitted old ocean after three years of seafaring Fraser made a fourth voyage and I then lost sight of him Then later on I wrote to his Sisters in the north of Scotland I was told he had left his ship at Bombay to accompany a tea grower who had been a passenger in the vessel to his plantations That was the last I heard of him As I held his letter in my hand I recalled him as a fair blue eyed bronzed young fellow exceedingly good looking a very nimble and alert seaman fitter for the navy indeed than for the tea wagon service full of spirit and resolution and extremely impulsive About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works A Contribution to the Classification of Works of Prose Fiction Free Library of Philadelphia.
