History Don Babai, 2024-10-24 This volume explores major theoretical and empirical themes in the study of the economic history of the Middle East Despite the relative neglect of economic history in Middle Eastern studies this book makes a case for its importance as a discipline of study On the one hand it shows promise in illuminating the economic base of historical trends and events on the other it can elucidate the historical foundations of economic continuity and change The chapters employ an array of theoretical and methodological approaches and ultimately demonstrate how economics and history along with political economy complement each other in studying the Middle East Among the substantive topics explored are the trajectories of the Arab Spring institutional change and economic development in the early Ottoman Empire the destructive effects of the reordering property rights in Iraq by the American led occupation authority the evolution of the political economy of the Islamic Republic of Iran and the determinants of movements in the yields of Egyptian and Ottoman sovereign debt following political and economic crises in the 19th and early 20th centuries The book will be of interest to scholars and students of economic history political economy and the Middle East Daughters Of Tunis Paula Holmes-Eber,2018-02-19

Daughters of Tunis is an innovative ethnography that carefully weaves the words and intimate personal stories of four Tunisian women and their families with a statistical analysis of women s survival strategies in a rapidly urbanizing industrializing Muslim nation Delineating three distinct network strategies Holmes Eber demonstrates the public role of neighborhoods as informal social security systems and the impact of women s education class and migration on women s resources and networks An engaging warm and oftentimes humorous portrait of Muslim women s responses to development Daughters of Tunis is an exciting new approach to ethnography merging the historically disparate methods of both qualitative and quantitative analysis The Economics of Woman and Work in the Middle East and North Africa E.

Mine Çınar,2001-05-10 Annotation The Economics of Women and Work in the Middle East and North Africa brings together a series of excellent articles on a very important but under researched issue The topics covered in this volume range from cross country comparisons of women s economic situation with an emphasis on employment trends to micro level studies of employment and fertility patterns for a number of Middle Eastern and North African countries including Egypt Turkey Palestine and Iran The Diffusion of "Small" Western Technologies in the Middle East Uri M. Kupferschmidt,2023-10-04

In recent years we have become interested in the diffusion of small Western technologies in the countries of the Middle East during the 19th and 20th centuries the era of Imperialism and first globalization We postulated a contrast between small and big technologies Under the latter category we may understand railway systems electricity grids telegraph networks and steam navigation imposed by foreign powers or installed by connected local entrepreneurs But many small Western technologies such as sewing machines typewriters pianos eyeglasses and similar consumer goods which had been developed and manufactured in Europe and America were wanted and willingly acquired by the agency of individual users elsewhere In a few cases however the inventions had to be adapted or were overstepped and even delayed Some were adopted as social markers or status symbols only by elites who could afford them Processes of adoption and diffusion therefore differed according to cultural settings preferences and needs Social and cultural historians and social scientists not only of the Middle East will find in this collection of essays a new approach to the impact of Western technological inventions on the Middle East The Architecture of Home in Cairo Mohamed Gamal Abdelmonem,2016-03-03 The hawari of Cairo narrow non straight alleyways are the basic urban units that have formed the medieval city since its foundation back in 969 AD Until early in the C20th they made up the primary urban divisions of the city and were residential in nature Contemporary hawari by contrast are increasingly dominated by commercial and industrial activity This medieval urban maze of extremely short broken zigzag streets and dead ends are defensible territories powerful institutions and important social systems While the hawari have been studied as an exemplar for urban structure of medieval Islamic urbanism and as individual building typologies this book is the first to examine in detail the socio spatial practice of the architecture of home in the city It investigates how people live communicate and relate to each other within their houses or shared spaces of the alleys and in doing so to uncover several new socio spatial dimensions and meanings in this architectural form In an attempt to re establish the link between architecture past and present and to understand the changing social needs of communities this book uncovers the notion of home as central to understand architecture in such a city with long history as Cairo It firstly describes the historical development of the domestic spaces indoor and outdoor and provides an inclusive analysis of spaces of everyday activities in the hawari of old Cairo It then broadens its analysis to other parts of the city highlighting different customs and representations of home in the city at large Cairo in the context of this book is represented as the most sophisticated urban centre in the Middle East with different and sometimes contrasting approaches to the architecture of home as a practice and spatial system In order to analyse the complexity and interconnectedness of the components and elements of the hawari as a collective home it layers its narratives of architectural and social developments as a domestic environment over the past two hundred years and in doing so explores the in depth social meaning and performance of spaces both private and public
