The linkages between migration, agriculture, food security and rural development Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, International Fund for Agricultural Development, International Organization for Migration, World Food Programme, 2018 Migration has contributed to the society we live in today and as such it is part of our shared history Both the causes and the consequences are multifaceted and complicated While many people leave their homes as a result of conflict or poverty others move under conditions of peace political stability and development A large share of international migrants originated from rural areas This is an important part of the structural transformation of an economy and is an important part of the structural transformation of an economy Examining the complex interlinkages of migration with agriculture This report examines the existing literature and provides evidence from both developed and developing countries focusing on why people from rural areas decide to migrate It explores the drivers of migration both international and internal and aims to deepen our understanding of the interlinkages with agriculture food security and rural development This report assesses the impact of migration on countries of origin and destination focusing on rural areas and the agricultural sector It discusses how agricultural and social policies can address challenges and capitalize on opportunities created by migration trends

Immigration and Social Systems Gianni D'Amato, Christina Boswell, 2025-10-01 Michael Bommers was one of the most brilliant and original migration studies scholars of our time This posthumous collection brings together a selection of his most important work on immigration integration transnationalism irregular migration and migrant networks Each essay provides a rigorous and compelling critique of mainstream accounts building on Bommers distinctive systems theoretic approach It will be required reading for all theoretically minded scholars and advanced students of migration studies

Structural Change and Urban Migration R. H. Sabot, 1974 Roadmap to an ASEAN Economic Community Denis Hew Wei-Yen, 2005 At the Ninth ASEAN Summit in Bali on 7 October 2003 the leaders of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations agreed to establish an ASEAN Economic Community AEC by 2020 It is envisaged that the AEC would be a single market and production base with a free flow of goods and services investments capital and skilled labour An integrated ASEAN with a sizeable market of over 500 million people could become an alternative to China as a regional production base for MNCs Although there are roadmaps for the fast track integration of eleven priority sectors an overall longer term roadmap needs to be formulated to realize the AEC This book addresses the main issues Scandinavian Exodus Briant Lindsay Lowell,2019-09-05 First published in 1987 During the last half of the nineteenth century nearly two million Norwegians and Swedes migrated to the United States Declining rates of emigration are moderately associated with the development of urban industrialization in Scandinavia toward the end of the 19th century Still the major explanation of the decline of emigration is argued to be less a response to new urban opportunities than the end result of the transformation of rural peasant classes and the decay of the diffusion process In this volume economic change agricultural development and the course of the demographic transition are separately considered to isolate the causes underlying the emigration The social historical context is examined with an eye toward casting the results of this study in a broader light Those lessons learned in the study of Scandinavian experience are applicable to similar processes currently unfolding in contemporary developing countries Government-sponsored Research on Foreign Affairs United States.
