Identity and Belonging

Vivian Ojong,Stephen Basure,2024-09-20 Migration and the politics of belonging has become buzzwords in the last quarter of the Twentieth and the first decades of Twenty first Century Countries and human beings the world over are on the move Government institutions in Africa Europe and elsewhere are investing billions of their currencies to check migration flows Those who navigate and crossed the international borders are scrutinized with derogatory terminologies Taking South Africa as a case study and with the use of an interdisciplinary approach the authors of this book have carved out yet another new fillip which adds to the budding scholarship The authors have done justice to the topic The inescapable attraction of this volume is the erudite verve vitality scintillating language and the engaging style which they employ to tell a complex story in a very simple way Associate Professor Walter Gam Nkwi Institute of History University of Leiden The Netherlands This book approaches the issues of belonging from several perspectives Utilising an historical approach and policy review to understand the past and current dynamics of belonging the book provides a basis for understanding the contemporary picture of belonging and citizenship for African migrants in South Africa Firstly the historical development of the discourse of citizenship from the pre apartheid era in South Africa is discussed highlighting major shifts in perceptions towards African migrants in South Africa Secondly the book analyses access to citizenship and how it has implications for the belonging of African migrants in the country Utilising ethnographic fieldwork the book makes use of narratives and experiences of African migrants in selected spaces to gain an understanding of how issues of citizenship have structured their relationship with place and space in their migration destinations It is a major observation that issues of citizenship and belonging are complex and subject to various processes which bring together both the migrants and host communities On the side of host communities it is evident that issues of legality structure access to citizenship and legality is used as an important tool of inclusion and exclusion of foreign African migrants The second important aspect is the interaction between migrants and the hosts which brings out a discourse of inclusion and exclusion based on identities and competition over access to resources and space Citizenship and belonging are therefore not clear cut processes but create complex situations in terms of theorising and managing the practicalities of migration These complexities stem from the ambiguous processes of inclusion and exclusion of African migrants in South Africa The tools which are meant to guarantee management of who belongs and who does not are incapable of functioning properly due to human innovativeness which results in different forms of access mediated by social networks and other extra legal means

Precarity and Belonging Catherine S.

Ramírez, Sylvanna M. Falcón, Juan Poblete, Steven C. McKay, Felicity Amaya Schaeffer, 2021-06-18 Precarity and Belonging examines how the movement of people and their incorporation marginalization and exclusion under epochal conditions of labor and social precarity affecting both citizens and noncitizens have challenged older notions of citizenship and alienage This collection brings mobility precarity and citizenship together in order to explore the points of contact and friction and thus the spaces for a possible politics of commonality between citizens and noncitizens The editors ask What does modern citizenship mean in a world of citizens denizens and noncitizens such as undocumented migrants guest workers permanent residents refugees detainees and stateless people How is the concept of citizenship based on assumptions of deservingness legality and productivity challenged when people of various and competing statuses and differential citizenship practices interact with each other revealing their co constitutive connections How is citizenship valued or revalued when labor and social precarity impact those who seemingly have formal rights and those who seemingly or effectively do not This book interrogates such binaries as citizen noncitizen insider outsider entitled unentitled legal illegal and deserving undeserving in order to explore the fluidity that is the dynamism and malleability of the spectra of belonging

Constructing and Imagining Labour Migration Sandra Mantu, 2016-05-23 Labour migration has been on the agenda of many countries around the globe at the same time as governments of both sending and receiving countries have been trying to develop regulatory mechanisms This book opens the debate on the global politics of labour migration by proposing a re assessment of the interaction between states regarding labour migration Presenting case specific scholarship from leading experts from five different continents each contribution engages with the changing landscape of migration control and teases out emerging control patterns dynamics and correlations that can be made between them and existing control paradigms The multidisciplinary and global focus in Constructing and Imagining Labour Migration sheds much needed light on the mechanisms deployed by states in their attempts to control labour migration and on the manner in which these mechanisms impact upon migrants themselves leaving some caught up in the politics of labour market control Home Rule Nandita Sharma,2020-02-14 In Home Rule Nandita Sharma traces the historical formation and political separation of Natives and Migrants from the nineteenth century to the present to theorize the portrayal of Migrants as colonial invaders The imperial state category of Native initially a mark of colonized status has been revitalized in what Sharma terms the Postcolonial New World Order of nation states Under postcolonial rule claims to autochthony being the Native people of a place are mobilized to define true national belonging Consequently Migrants the quintessential people out of place increasingly face exclusion expulsion or even extermination This turn to autochthony has led to a hardening of nationalism s Criteria for political membership have shrunk immigration controls have intensified all while practices of expropriation and exploitation have expanded Such politics exemplify the postcolonial politics of national sovereignty a politics that Sharma sees as containing our dreams of decolonization Home Rule rejects nationalisms and calls for the dissolution of the ruling categories of Native and Migrant so we can build a common worldly place where our fundamental liberty to stay and move is realized
