

Open Shutters

Oliver Jenkins

Open Shutters:

Open Shutters Mary Jo Salter, 2013-11-13 Mary Jo Salter's sparkling new collection Open Shutters leads us into a world where things are often not what they seem. In the first poem Trompe l'Œil the shadow casting shutters on Genoese houses are made of paint only an open lie. And yet Who needs to be correct more often than once a day Who needs real shadow more than play. Open Shutters also calls to mind the lens of a camera in the villanelle School Pictures or in the stirring sequence In the Guesthouse which inspired by photographs of a family across three generations offers at once a social history of America and a love story. Darkness and light interact throughout the book in poems about September 11 about a dog named Shadow about a blind centenarian who still pretends to read the paper about a woman shaken by the death of her therapist. A section of light verse highlights the wit and grace that have long distinguished Salter's most serious work. Fittingly the volume fools the eye once more by closing with An Open Book in which a Muslim family praying at a funeral seek consolation in the pages formed by their upturned palms. Open Shutters is the achievement of a remarkable poet whose concerns and stylistic range continue to grow encompassing ever larger themes becoming ever more open. Open Shutters Oliver Jenkins, 1922
