Subcommittee on Financial Services and General Government,2014 Food Production And Rural Development In The Sahel R. James Bingen,2019-03-04 In Mali and throughout the Sahel governments increasingly rely on parastatal organizations to overcome the problems of lagging food production and rural poverty This book examines the political and economic consequences of the efforts of one organization Operation Riz Segou in Mali to increase smallholder food and cash crop production Drawing extensively on fieldwork in Mali the author finds that significant investments in irrigation facilities financed by foreign aid have not reduced the smallholder s vulnerability to the risks posed by weather and uncertain flood levels of the Niger River The extension system discourages smallholder investment for long term agricultural development because of its preoccupation with supervision and administrative control Moreover the Operation engages in many popular rural development activities literacy programs farmer training women s artisanal centers that give the facade of grassroots participation but in reality do not provide villagers a critically needed voice in local program administration Comparing Operation Riz Segou to similar parastatal agricultural development programs in the Sahel Dr Bingen discusses why only those policies deliberately designed and carefully implemented to share power with the majority of the people can lay the political and economic foundation required to overcome rural poverty and resolve the food crisis in the Sahel
