Open Society Archives:

The postsocialist contemporary Octavian Esanu, 2021-11-23 The postsocialist contemporary joins a growing body of scholarship debating the definition and nature of contemporary art. It comes to these debates from a historicist perspective taking as its point of departure one particular art programme initiated in Eastern Europe by the Hungarian American billionaire George Soros. First implemented in Hungary, the Soros Center for Contemporary Art (SCCA) expanded to another eighteen ex-socialist countries throughout the 1990s. Its mission was to build a western open society by means of art. This book discusses how network managers and artists participated in the construction of this new social order by studying the programme's rise, evolution, impact and broader ideological and political consequences. Rather than recounting a history, it engages critically with contemporary art as the aesthetic paradigm of late capitalist market democracy. Music, City and the Roma under Communism Anna G. Piotrowska, 2022-02-10 This book highlights the role of Romani musical presence in Central and Eastern Europe, especially from Krakow in the Communist period and argues that music can and should be treated as one of the main points of relation between Roma and non-Roma. It discusses Romani performers and the complexity of their situation as conditioned by the political situations starkly affected by the Communist regime and then by its fall. Against this backdrop, the book engages with musician Stefan Dymiter, known as Corro, as the leader of his own street band, unwelcome in the public space by the authorities, merely tolerated by others but admired by many passers-by and respected by his peer Romain musicians and international music stars. It emphasizes the role of Romani musicians in Krakow in shaping the soundscape of the city while also demonstrating their collective and individual strategies to adapt to the new circumstances in terms of the preferred performative techniques, repertoire and overall lifestyle. The Establishment Responds K. Fahlenbrach, M. Klimke, J. Scharloth, L. Wong, 2012-01-02 This volume fills this gap by examining the many ways in which political parties, the business world, foreign policymakers and the intelligence community experienced, confronted and even actively contributed to domestic and transnational forms of dissent. ECLAP 2012 Conference on Information Technologies for Performing Arts, Media Access and Entertainment Paolo Nesi, 2012 It has been a long history of Information Technology innovations within the Cultural Heritage areas. The Performing arts has also been enforced with a number of new innovations which unveil a range of synergies and possibilities. Most of the technologies and innovations produced for digital libraries, media, entertainment and education can be exploited in the field of performing arts with adaptation and repurposing. Performing arts offer many interesting challenges and opportunities for research and innovations and exploitation of cutting-edge research results from interdisciplinary areas. For these reasons, the ECLAP 2012 can be regarded as a continuation of past conferences such as AXMEDIS and WEDELMUSIC, both pressed by IEEE and FUP. ECLAP is an European Commission project to create a social network and media access service for performing arts institutions in Europe to create the e-library of performing arts, exploiting innovative solutions coming from the ICT. Consumption and
