Objections to Calvinism as it is Randolph Sinks Foster,1850 Objections to Calvinism As It Is, in a Series of Letters Addressed to Rev N L Rice by R S Foster, with an Appendix, Containing Replies and Rejoin Randolph Sinks Foster,1856

Objections to Calvinism As it is, in a Series of Letters Randolph Sinks Foster,2023-07-18 In Objections to Calvinism As It Is in a Series of Letters Randolph Sinks Foster presents a compelling argument against the tenets of Calvinism Through a series of letters Foster takes aim at the idea of predestination and other core beliefs of the Calvinist faith This thought provoking book is an excellent resource for anyone interested in the theology of Calvinism and its impact on modern Christianity This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant Objections to Calvinism as It Is Randolph S.

Foster,2017-11-25 Excerpt from Objections to Calvinism as It Is In a Series of Letters Addressed to Rev N L Rice D D The subject of Predestination has for many ages engaged the attention of theologians and philosophers That the world is governed by fixed and permanent laws is evident even to the casual observer But by whom those laws are established and how far they extend have been matters of controversy In the Christian world all admit that the will of God is the great source of law In the arrangements of the vast systems of worlds as well as in the formation of the earth with all its varied tribes we recognize the hand of Him who doeth his will in the heavens above and in the earth beneath All acknowledge the existence of a Divine decree but the questions arise Do all things thus come to pass Are human actions the result of laws as fixed and unalterable as those which govern the movements of the planets Is the destiny of every human being unchangeably determined before his birth without reference to foreseen conduct Or has the mind a power of choice Can it move freely Within certain specified limits And will the nature of its movements and choice influence its eternal happiness These are questions which in some form have exercised the highest powers of the human intellect About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works [Objections to Calvinism As It Is; in a Series of Letters Addressed to N. have numerous typos and missing text Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher Not indexed Not illustrated 1854 edition Excerpt APPENDIX It mil be proper to say at this point that what is here presented as an Appendix is the substance of Dr Rice s replies to my letters with my rejoinders thereto It will be seen by the reader that our rejoinders are confined strictly to the points at issue between us The reasons for this will be obvious Had we permitted ourselves to be decoyed into irrelevant matters we and our readers would have become bewildered and lost in the mazes of endless logomachy This would doubtless have pleased our friend as it would have served to divert attention from his system but it did not suit us

NUMBER I I am happy to be able to lay Dr Rice s reply to my first and second letters before my readers In its general tone and spirit it accords well with my expectations and if it fails in argument I find an apology in the circumstances of the case The Doctor will make up for this hereafter Letters on Calvinism We are decidedly of opinion after reading two of Mr Foster s Letters on Calvinism that he really needs the assistance which in his first letter he so warmly invoked His second letter urges the old objection a thousand times made and as often refuted that the doctrine of decrees makes God the author of sin This hackneyed objection is founded upon the idea that God s decree is the necessity or necessitating cause of sin Now inasmuch as Presbyterians hold no such view and would really depose any one of their ministers who should teach it the objection is utterly without force No Presbyterian holds that God ever purposed or decreed to dispose or influence any man or angel to sin If Mr 247 Foster had taken the trouble to read the sixth chaptei of the Westminster Confession of Faith he would have

Excusing Sinners and Blaming God Guillaume Bignon,2017-12-11 Calvinist determinism destroys moral responsibility and makes God the author of sin These two accusations are not new and were arguably anticipated by Paul in Romans 9 but they remain today the most important objections offered against Calvinist determinist views of human free will This book is a philosophically rigorous and comprehensive defense of Calvinism against these two families of arguments With respect to human moral responsibility it discusses whether determinism destroys free will turns humans into pets or puppets and involves or is analogous to coercion and manipulation It responds to the consequence argument and direct argument for incompatibilism the principle of alternate possibilities the ought implies can maxim and related claims With respect to the authorship of sin it discusses whether Calvinist determinism improperly involves God in evil Does it mean that God sins or causes sin or wills sin in problematic ways Does God intend our sin or merely permit sin In each case the coherence of the Calvinist view is defended against its most potent objections to reject the claim that Calvinism is excusing sinners and blaming God
