Observing The Caldwell Objects:

The Caldwell Objects and How to Observe Them Martin Mobberley, 2009-10-03 When Mike Inglis who consults for Springer first asked me to write a Caldwell book in their and How to Observe Them series I admit I did need some time to think the suggestion over I am a fan of Patrick's Caldwell catalog as are most of the amateur astronomers I know but could a new book be justified when the massive comprehensive and wrist spraining Caldwell tome by Stephen O'Meara covers the subject fully anyway That other book was researched and written over a 5 year period in the pre 9/11 world from 1996 to 2001 and its 484 pages of descriptive text and background data are a joy to peruse as are Stephen's impressive sketches OK the book is far too heavy for the binding and after a few trips outside half the pages in my copy fell out but apart from that it is an excellent book and surely impossible to improve upon or even equal especially in a smaller format book with only half the pages available at least that was my initial impression when I mulled over writing another Caldwell book However I changed my mind because a number of events of astronomical significance have occurred in the last 10 years First and foremost backyard imaging of deep sky objects especially color imaging has come on in leaps and bounds in the twenty-first century

Observing the Caldwell Objects David Ratledge, 2012-12-06 Background A new collection of deep sky targets for the modern amateur astronomer was long overdue The traditional catalogue of deep sky objects i.e. that produced by Messier over 200 years ago has become a victim of its own success Those objects have now become far too well known over viewed over imaged and over published More importantly they have often resulted in more interesting objects being totally overlooked The logic behind the compilation of Messier's objects was nothing more profound than that they might be confused for a comet There must be a better way to choose the best deep sky objects for the modern era It was time for a fresh approach Enter Patrick Moore As an active observer for over half a century and the last 40 years of which as presenter of BBC TV's Sky at Night he has travelled all over the World and never missed the opportunity to observe the skies This has given him an in depth practical knowledge of deep sky objects in both northern and southern hemispheres

Deep-Sky Companions: The Caldwell Objects Stephen James O'Meara, 2016-09-26 The Caldwell Catalogue compiled by the late Sir Patrick Moore 1923-2012 has delighted amateur astronomers worldwide since its publication in 1995 Twenty years on Stephen James O'Meara revisits his guide to these 109 deep sky delights breathing new life into them and the 20 additional observing targets included as an appendix This second edition retains O'Meara's detailed visual descriptions and sketches accompanied by stunning new images taken by amateur photographer Mario Motta and observations by Magda Streicher The astrophysical descriptions have been updated to account for the many advances in our understanding of the objects not least due to an armada of space borne observatories and the new technologies used in large ground based telescopes Ideal for observers who have completed the Messier objects and are looking for their next challenge Deep Sky Companions The Caldwell Objects is a fitting tribute from a renowned visual observer to one of astronomy's most famous personalities

Observing the Caldwell Objects David Ratledge, 2000-02-09 The objects listed in the Caldwell Catalogue supplement Messiers famous catalogue of 110 non stellar objects and include some of the most fascinating objects for amateur astronomers This comprehensive guide has been produced specially for observers with each object conveniently shown on a double page spread There is a photographic image of every object and full technical data including position and NGC number It also includes a finder map showing Telrad™ circles a star hopping guide a visual description of each object as seen through amateur telescopes and a physical description of the object itself Finally there is a fold out map showing the location of all the Caldwell objects in the sky A practical and essential guide

The Observing Guide to the Messier Marathon Don Machholz, 2002-10-10 The Messier Catalogue is a list of one hundred and ten galaxies star clusters and nebulae and includes many of the brightest and best known objects in the sky Amateur astronomers who find all the objects on the list in one night have successfully completed the Messier Marathon The Observing Guide to the Messier Marathon contains over 90 easy to use star maps to guide the observer from one object to the next and provides tips for a successful night of observing Don Machholz also tells the story of the eighteenth century astronomer Charles Messier and how he came to compile his extensive catalogue His complete guide to the Messier Marathon will help the amateur astronomer to observe the Messier Objects throughout the year using a small telescope or even a pair of binoculars Don Machholz is an engineer in Auburn California Interested in astronomy since childhood he is a renowned comet hunter having discovered nine comets that bear his name He writes articles for local California newspapers and radio stations for special astronomical events Between 1988 and 2000 Don Machholz was the Comets Recorder for the Association of Lunar and Planetary Recorders

An Amateur's Guide to Observing and Imaging the Heavens Ian Morison, 2014-05-26 An Amateur's Guide to Observing and Imaging the Heavens is a highly comprehensive guidebook that bridges the gap between the beginners and hobbyists books and the many specialised and subject specific texts for more advanced amateur astronomers Written by an experienced astronomer and educator the book is a one stop reference providing extensive information and advice about observing and imaging equipment with detailed examples showing how best to use them In addition to providing in depth knowledge about every type of astronomical telescope and highlighting their strengths and weaknesses two chapters offer advice on making visual observations of the Sun Moon planets stars and galaxies All types of modern astronomical imaging are covered with step by step details given on the use of DSLRs and web cams for solar lunar and planetary imaging and the use of DSLRs and cooled CCD cameras for deep sky imaging

Galaxies and How to Observe Them Wolfgang Steinicke, Richard Jakiel, 2006-12-06 This book is a unique work satisfying the need for a modern comprehensive review of all major aspects of galaxy observation The book combines the physical background on the nature and data of galaxies the relevant instrumentation and viewing techniques and finally the targets and their individual appearance in telescopes of various apertures A comprehensive sample of galaxies including quasars groups and clusters of galaxies is presented This combination of theoretical knowledge and practical information guarantees successful observing sessions Furthermore the book is clearly structured with outstanding images and graphics Bullseye Finder Charts of the Caldwell Objects, Volume 1 Lars Hedbor,2022-07-10 Beyond the Messier List but just as accessible are the Caldwell Objects 109 spectacles of the night sky covering both the Northern and Southern Hemispheres Each of the 69 objects in this volume includes a finder chart filter and season suggestions description and background information on the object Dive in and start observing the Caldwell Objects with this handy spiral bound guide today Bullseye Finder Charts of the Caldwell Objects, Volume 2 Lars Hedbor,2022-07-10 Beyond the Messier List but just as accessible are the Caldwell Objects 109 spectacles of the night sky covering both the Northern and Southern Hemispheres Each of the 76 objects in this Southern Hemisphere volume includes a finder chart filter and season suggestions description and background information on the object Dive in and start observing the Caldwell Objects with this handy spiral bound guide today Seeing Stars C. R. Kitchin,Robert W. Forrest,2012-12-06 Seeing Stars is written for astronomers regardless of the depth of their theoretical knowledge who are taking their first steps in observational astronomy Chris Kitchin and Bob Forrest both professional astronomers take a conducted tour of the night sky and suggest suitable observing programmes for everyone from beginners to experts How is this book different We are all familiar with the beautiful images of planets and galaxies obtained by spacecraft and giant telescopes but what can you really see with a small telescope What should you expect from a small refractor or reflector And what is the effect of observing from a site near a city The answers are all here with many photographs that will illustrate exactly what can be seen with different instruments everything from the naked eye to a 300mm telescope and from different locations The Observatory ,2003 A review of astronomy varies Astrophysical Techniques, Fifth Edition C.R. Kitchin,2009 Emphasizing the underlying unity of all astronomical observations Astrophysical Techniquesprovides a coherent state of the art account ofthe instruments and techniques used in current astronomy and astrophysics The fifth edition of this well respected text includes many new instruments and techniques while removing some that have long been unused by both professional and amateur astronomers This edition presents a new brief discussion on the invention and development of the telescope a new section that describes the attempts to detect dark matter and dark energy and extended and updated discussions on computer Internet and spacecraft based observations and research The Caldwell Objects Stephen James O'Meara,2002 The Caldwell Catalogue compiled by the late Sir Patrick Moore 1923 2012 has delighted amateur astronomers worldwide since its publication in 1995 Twenty years on Stephen James O Meara revisits his guide to these 109 deep sky delights breathing new life into them and the 20 additional observing targets included as an appendix This second edition retains O Meara s detailed visual descriptions and sketches accompanied by stunning new images taken by amateur photographer Mario Motta and observations by Magda Streicher The astrophysical descriptions have been updated to account for the many advances in our understanding of the objects not least due to an armada of space borne observatories and the new technologies used in large
