The Concise Corsini Encyclopedia of Psychology and Behavioral Science W. Edward Craighead, Charles B. Nemeroff, 2004-04-19 Edited by high caliber experts and contributed to by quality researchers and practitioners in psychology and related fields Includes over 500 topical entries Each entry features suggested readings and extensive cross referencing Accessible to students and general readers Edited by two outstanding scholars and clinicians The Art of Thinking Ernest Dimmet, 1928 Body Image Obsessed Teenagers - The Ever-growing Obsession with Body Image, and Its Mental and Psychological Repercussions on Teenagers Dueep Jyot Singh, John Davidson, 2018-11-26 Table of Contents Introduction Stereotyping Body Image Excessive Teenage Centered Emotional Reaction regarding Appearance Common Sense Tips for Parents Parental Support Binge Eating Conclusion Author Bio Publisher Introduction I wanted to write a book on why more and more children are becoming obsessed with this term body image Once upon a time this term was used only by psychologists and people who were bothered about Freud and Jung and scientific researchers thinking of the corporeal aspects of a physical body and what the mind thought about it consciously and subconsciously But since the time when it has come into popular usage thanks to the Internet even parents who really do not know anything about child psychology have begun using this term with great impunity According to them body is a body and the image is what your body looks like in the mirror And that is what the Internet would have you believe According to sites out there the body image is a reflection of what you see of yourself in the mirror Actually it is much more deeper than that it is the mental visualization of the perception of your own body as you think of it mentally in terms of attractiveness and its aesthetics Paul Schilder an Austrian psychologist thought up this term way back in the 30s in one of his research papers and since then people have begun obsessing on how they look and how others see them and the first impression thereof That is natural instinctive and human and has been a part of natural selection for centuries but as more and more teenagers are getting more obsessed with obtaining the perfect figure dictated according to the popular press public media and even social sites this is definitely not good for their future emotional spiritual and even mental health Physically they are going to ruin their good health by starving themselves because they want to be a zero size person This drastic state of affairs was the reason why so many Hollywood stars starved to death or drank themselves to death because their studio chiefs had it written in the contract that they could not gain a pound of weight while they were under contract This extremism was okay in the 30s and 40s when it was glamour time in Hollywood especially during the Great Depression and human beings were held up as role models goddesses and every young girl was told to look like that particular star Fatal Females Micki Pistorius, 2012-10-02 In Fatal Females investigative psychologist and former police profiler Micki Pistorius examines the minds and motives of women who kill Throughout history the view seems to have prevailed that it is not in women's nature to commit violent crime but Pistorius shows that this is not in fact the case Women givers of life are indeed capable of ruthlessly taking life She examines more than fifty documented cases of South African female killers categorised according to the nature of the crime for example infanticide spree killings stalkers poisoners and she presents her new hypothesis to explain the psychology of that rare individual the female serial killer Psychoanalysis and Gland Personalities André Tridon,1923 Cinema of Obsession Dominique Mainon,James Ursini,2007-10 Cinema of Obsession traces the history of obsessive love and erotic fixation Seminal works of obsession The Blue Angel Peter Ibbetson and Phantom of the Opera are seen as setting the groundwork for films that follow The book defines and surveys examples of the explosive nature of amour fou issues of male control no matter how tenuous and the fugitive couple love on the run in such films as Romeo and Juliet Last Tango in Paris Vertigo Basic Instinct and Wild at Heart Male masochism is explored through film noirs including Criss Cross The Killers Gilda and The Postman Always Rings Twice The book shifts gears in its finale and concentrates on the female gaze films of female obsession Jane Eyre The Piano The Lover Fatal Attraction and Vanilla Sky The Theosophist ,1930
