Measuring Mortality, Fertility, and Natural Increase James A. Palmore, Robert W. Gardner, 1989      Measuring Mortality, Fertility, and Natural Increase J. A. Palmore, R. W. Gardner, 1987      Global Depopulation and Redistribution by 2050 A.D. Prithvish Nag, Amrita Paul, 2024-03-25 Until recently the world has been preoccupied with over population pressure on resources alarming growth rates fertility and unemployment Issues like reduction in population growth rate increasing longevity the greying population reducing fertility rates and overall depopulation have not been considered seriously Depopulation has led to redistribution Further the world economy forces women to choose between career and child COVID 19 has further aggravated the situation It appears that population processes are smooth with no major upheavals But if we delve deeper we will find undercurrents happening concurrently which contribute towards population composition These undercurrents have been swift and cannot be captured by decadal censuses Hence one has to depend on alternative sources Surprisingly the electronic media has become quite sensitive to population issues In this book an attempt has been made to understand these issues differently      Dynamics of Human Reproduction James W. Wood, 2017-09-29 Awarded the W W Howells Award for the Outstanding Book in Biological Anthropology this volume presents a comprehensive integrated and up to date overview of the major physiological and behavioral factors affecting human reproduction In attempting to identify the most important causes of variation in fertility within and among human populations Wood summarizes data from a wide range of societies Trained as an anthropologist as well as a demographer he devotes special attention to so called natural fertility populations in which modern contraceptives and induced abortion are not used to limit reproductive output Such an emphasis enables him to study the interaction of biology and behavior with particular clarity The volume weaves together the physiological demographic and biometric approaches to human fertility in a way that will encourage future interdisciplinary research Instead of offering a general overview the focus is to answer one question Why does fertility and the number of live births vary from couple to couple within any particular population and from population to population across the human species as a whole Topics covered include ovarian function conception and pregnancy intrauterine mortality reproductive maturation and senescence coital frequency and the waiting time to conception marriage patterns and the initiation of reproduction the fertility reducing effects of breastfeeding the impact of maternal nutrition on reproduction and reproductive seasonality This unique combination of comprehensive subject matter and an integrated analytical approach makes the book ideally suited both as a graduate level textbook and as a reference work      Data and Metadata Reporting and Presentation Handbook OECD, 2007-06-11 The OECD Data and Metadata Reporting and Presentation Handbook contains guidelines and recommended best practice for the presentation of such data and metadata disseminated by national agencies and international organisations in various media      Readings in Population Research Methodology: Basic tools United Nations Population Fund, 1993      OECD Glossary of Statistical Terms OECD, 2008-09-01

The OECD Glossary contains a comprehensive set of over 6 700 definitions of key terminology concepts and commonly used acronyms derived from existing international statistical guidelines and recommendations The Chances of Death, and Other Studies in Evolution Karl Pearson,1897 Contraceptive Technology 1988-1989 Robert Anthony Hatcher,1988

Measuring Country Performance on Health Jia Wang,1999 Health outcomes constitute one natural starting point for assessment of the consequences of policies affecting health systems Yet country characteristics also influence health outcomes Performance on health outcomes is critical for human welfare and until now country decisionmakers and policy analysts have had no systematic way to judge performance This report provides them with that capacity This report contains the results for 15 countries at five year intervals from 1960 to 1990 on six health indicators under five mortality rates total fertility rates adult mortality rates for males and females and life expectancy at birth for males and females In this report the authors take aspects of health system performance and describe how countries compare with each other and how their own performance has improved or failed to improve over time The goal of the study is to prepare a reference document that provides measures that can be used to assess the consequences of policy Part of the Health Nutrition and Population Series HNP Global Population and Reproductive Health Deborah R. McFarlane,2014-07-18 The world population surpassed the seven billion mark in 2011 yet many women and couples still lack access to reproductive health services These facts have profound implications for maternal and child health environmental quality and food security Global Population and Reproductive Health provides an introduction to an important and timely public health topic The text is unique in that it explores the inextricable link between population and reproductive health a connection that is often overlooked as well as their impact on global and local environmental issues Students will come away with a clear understanding of the relationships among all these issues and the vital need for integrated policies and international cooperation Contents Include 1 Overview 2 Measures and Theories 3 Health 4 Related Issues 5 Policies Syllabi and Instructional Materials in

Demography Rebecca A. Nees,Loretta Elizabeth Bass,2003 Anthropology Raymond Scupin,Christopher R. DeCorse,2019-12-20 Integrating historical biological archaeological and applied approaches with ethnographic data from around the world Anthropology A Global Perspective is founded on four essential themes the diversity of human societies the similarities that tie all humans together the interconnections between the sciences and humanities and a new theme addressing psychological essentialism The Encyclopædia Britannica James Louis Garvin,1926 Journal of the Royal Statistical Society Royal Statistical Society (Great Britain),1908 Published papers whose appeal lies in their subject matter rather than their technical statistical contents Medical social educational legal demographic and governmental issues are of particular concern Bibliographie der Wirtschaftswissenschaften ,1984 Social Science Abstracts ,1930 1994 ACEEE Summer Study on Energy Efficiency in Buildings: Measurement and evaluation ,1994 Cultural Anthropology Raymond Scupin,2019-12-10 Now with SAGE Publishing Cultural Anthropology A Global Perspective delves into both classic and current research in the field reflecting a commitment to anthropology's holistic and integrative approach. This text illuminates how the four core subfields of anthropology—biological anthropology, archaeology, linguistics, and cultural anthropology—together yield a comprehensive understanding of humanity. In examining anthropological research, this text often refers to research conducted in other fields, sparking the critical imagination that brings the learning process to life. The Tenth Edition expands on the book's hallmark three-themed approach: diversity of human societies, similarities that make all humans fundamentally alike, and a synthetic/complementary approach by introducing a new fourth theme addressing psychological essentialism. Recognizing the necessity for students to develop an enhanced global awareness more than ever before, author Raymond Scupin uses over 30 years of teaching experience to bring readers closer to the theories, data, and critical thinking skills vital to appreciating the full sweep of the human condition. This title is accompanied by a complete teaching and learning package.
