Mechanisms Of Colour Discrimination:

Central and Peripheral Mechanism of Colour Vision David Ottoson, Semir Zeki, 1985-06-18      Mechanisms of Colour Vision Walter Stanley Stiles, 1978      Colour Perception Rainer Mausfeld, Dieter Heyer, 2003-11-06 Colour has long been a source of fascination to both scientists and philosophers. In one sense colours are in the mind of the beholder, in another sense they belong to the external world. Colours appear to lie on the boundary where we have divided the world into objective and subjective events. They represent more than any other attribute of our visual experience a place where both physical and mental properties are interwoven in an intimate and enigmatic way. The last few decades have brought fascinating changes in the way that we think about colour and the role colour plays in our perceptual architecture. In Colour Perception Mind and the physical world leading scholars from cognitive psychology, philosophy, neurophysiology and computational vision provide an overview of the contemporary developments in our understanding of colours and of the relationship between the mental and the physical. With each chapter followed by critical commentaries the volume presents a lively and accessible picture of the intellectual traditions which have shaped research into colour perception. Written in a non-technical style and accessible to an interdisciplinary audience the book will provide an invaluable resource for researchers in colour perception and the cognitive sciences.
