The Potential of Public Discussion in Media Philosophy of Democracy and Misinformation takes up two perspectives on public discussions in media the outsider s third person perspective and the first person perspective of the engaged subject By investigating public discussion in media through both perspectives public discussion appears simultaneously both crucial and risky for democracy The book uses phenomenology to frame the problematic of contemporary public discussions in media which emphasizes the subjective experience of gaining new information

Culture and Economy in the Age of Social Media Christian Fuchs, 2015-01-09 Understanding social media requires us to engage with the individual and collective meanings that diverse stakeholders and participants give to platforms. It also requires us to analyse how social media companies try to make profits, how and which labour creates this profit, who creates social media ideologies and the conditions under which such ideologies emerge. In short, understanding social media means coming to grips with the relationship between culture and the economy. In this thorough study, Christian Fuchs, one of the leading analysts of the Internet and social media, delves deeply into the subject by applying the approach of cultural materialism to social media, offering readers theoretical concepts, contemporary examples and proposed opportunities for political intervention. Culture and Economy in the Age of Social Media is the ultimate resource for anyone who wants to understand culture and the economy in an era populated by social media platforms such as Twitter, Facebook and Google in the West and Weibo, Renren and Baidu in the East. Updating the analysis of thinkers such as Raymond Williams, Karl Marx, Ferruccio Rossi Landi and Dallas W. Smythe for the 21st century, Fuchs presents a version of Marxist cultural theory and cultural materialism that allows us to critically understand social media's influence on culture and the economy.

Media, Babylon and Persia Zénaïde Alexeïevna Ragozin, 1891 The Story of Media and Babylon from the Fall of Nineveh to the Persian War Zénaïde Alexeïevna Ragozin, 1889 Arab Media and Political Renewal Naomi Sakr, 2007-03-30 People are on the move across the Arab world, organizing politically in new ways. The Arab media have also undergone a transformation and are still in a state of flux. It is therefore crucial to be able to discuss political initiatives in the region in the light of media developments. This authoritative book answers key questions about the connections between media and political change in the Arab world. Using research into, for example, practices of Internet users, journalists, demonstrators and producers of reality TV, it explores the interface between public interaction over the airwaves at the polls and on the streets. A lively group of contributors explores such issues as whether young people are served well by new media, whether blogging is an influential political tool, whether satellite news helps or hinders diasporic communities politically and much more. Engaging with debates at the heart of public affairs and popular culture in Arab countries, this book addresses everyone who seeks to grasp the media politics of this central, often misunderstood region.

Trends 2005, 2005 Media Consumption and Public Engagement N. Couldry, S. Livingstone, T. Markham, 2007-04-03 Democracy is based on the belief that the media gets the attention of voters. But is this plausible in an age of multiplying media, disillusionment with the political system and time scarcity? This book addresses this question and charts experiences of public connection.
