Taylor Lauritsen, 2021-12-31 The focus of this volume is on the aesthetics semantics and function of materials in Roman antiquity between the 2nd century B C and the 2nd century A D It includes contributions on both architectural spaces and their material design and objects types of artefacts that differ greatly in the way they were used perceived and loaded with cultural significance With respect to architecture the analysis of material aesthetics leads to a new understanding of the performance imitation and transformation of surfaces including the social meaning of such strategies In the case of objects surface treatments are equally important However object form a specific design category which can enter into tension with materiality comes into particular focus Only when materials are shaped do their various qualities emerge and these qualities are to a greater or lesser extent transferred to objects With a focus primarily on Roman Italy the papers in this volume underscore the importance of material design and highlight the awareness of this matter in the ancient world      Domestic and Divine Christine Kondoleon, 2018-09-05 Built on the southwestern coast of Cyprus in the second century A D the House of Dionysos is full of clues to a distant life in the corner of a portico shards of pottery a clutch of Roman coins found on a skeleton under a fallen wall yet none is so evocative as the intricate mosaic floors that lead the eye from room to room inscribing in their colored images the traditions aspirations and relations of another world In this lavishly illustrated volume Christine Kondoleon conducts us through the House of Dionysos showing us what its interior decoration discloses about its inhabitants and their time Seen from within the context of the house the mosaics become eloquent witnesses to an elusive dialogue between inhabitants and guests and to the intermingling of public and private Kondoleon draws on the insights of art history and archaeology to show what the mosaics in the House of Dionysos can tell us about these complex relations She explores the issues of period and regional styles workshop traditions the conditions of patronage and the forces behind iconographic change Her work marks a major advance not just in the study of Roman mosaics but in our knowledge of Roman society
