Mosaic A Chronical Of Five Generations:

Mosaic Diane Armstrong, 2001-08-27 Starting in Krakow Poland in 1890 and spanning more than one hundred years five generations and four continents Mosaic is Diane Armstrong's moving account of her remarkable resilient family. This story begins when Daniel Baldinger divorces the wife he loves because she cannot bear children. Believing that a man must have sons to say Kaddish for him when he dies he marries a much younger woman and by 1913 Daniel and his second wife Lieba have eleven children including six sons. In this richly textured portrait Armstrong follows the Baldinger children's lives over decades through the terrifying years of the Holocaust to the present. Based on oral histories and the diaries of more than a dozen men and women Mosaic is an extraordinary story of a family and one woman's journey to reclaim her heritage.

Dancing with the Enemy Diane Armstrong, 2022-05-01 From the bestselling author of The Collaborator comes a compelling story of betrayal, collusion, revenge and redemption set in German occupied Jersey during World War II. June 1940. It was a perfect June evening that began with hope and ended in despair. So begins the journal of Hugh Jackson a Jersey doctor whose idyllic world is shattered when Britain abandons the Channel Islands which are invaded by the Germans. Forced to choose between conflicting loyalties he sends his pregnant wife to England believing their separation will be brief. It's a fateful decision that will affect every aspect of his life. May 1942. Young Tom Gaskell fumes whenever he sees the hated swastika flying from Fort Regent. Humiliated by Jersey's surrender and ashamed of his mother's fraternisation with the occupiers Tom forms an audacious plan not suspecting that it will result in guilt and tragedy. April 2019. Sydney doctor Xanthe Maxwell traumatised by the suicide of her colleague and burnt out by the relentless pressure of her hospital work travels to St Helier so she can figure out what to do with her life. But when she finds Hugh Jackson's World War II journal she is plunged into a violent world of oppression and collusion but also of passion and resistance. As she reads she is mystified by her growing sense of connection to the past. Her deepening relationship with academic Daniel Miller helps her understand Jersey's wartime past and determine her own future. By the time this novel reaches its moving climax the connection between Tom Xanthe and Hugh Jackson has been revealed in a way none of them could possibly have imagined.

thrilled and deeply moved Joseph Heller author of Catch 22 Diane Armstrong's book is a source of delight to the reader Written with fervor and talent it will capture your attention and retain it to the last page Elie Wiesel Nobel Prize winner a family story you'll never forget This extraordinary true story begins in the Polish city of Krakow in 1890 and spans one hundred years and four continents It is the story of a Jewish family whose patriarch Daniel Baldinger divorces the wife he loves because she is barren He believes a man must have sons to say Kaddish for him when he dies To ensure having children he marries a girl of eighteen By 1913 Daniel has eleven children including six sons to say Kaddish for him Impatient for his God given son to begin learning the sacred language of the Torah Daniel sent Avner to cheder at Chevre Tilem when he was three years old Most boys were enrolled at four or five but Daniel couldn't wait for Avner's rabbinical training to begin Cheder was the place where childhood ended At this religious day school Jewish boys learned Hebrew and studied the Torah No coloured pictures childish stories or lively games relieved the tedium of this dour classroom where Avner had to memorise words he didn't understand learn hundreds of rules and write strange squiggles But although God has answered Daniel's prayers it is with a bitter twist each of his six sons rebels against his religion and not one of them says Kaddish for him when he dies This richly textured portrait follows these eleven children from the 1890s through the terrifying years of the Holocaust when Diane and her parents assumed non Jewish names and passed themselves off as Catholics in the little village of Piszczacl to the present A long shadow fell across the little girl tracing patterns in the dirt with a stick After watching her for a few minutes the stranger asked What's your name little girl Without looking up she replied Danusia Boguslawska But what was your name before that he insisted My father Henek who was standing by the open window froze when he heard the last question Instead of rushing outside and grabbing the child to prevent her from answering that insidious question he was struck dumb and stood there helplessly awaiting her reply on which all their lives depended Mosaic is compelling storytelling at its best from the fascinating detail of Polish Jewish culture at the turn of the century and the rivalries and dramas of family life to its moving account of lives torn apart by war and prejudice this is a remarkable story of a family and of one woman's journey to reclaim her heritage For centuries Poland has been a battleground whose fields watered by more blood than rain have nurtured ancient hatreds Jews have not had a monopoly on suffering grief and loss Before we drive away from Szczakowa I look back at the leafy street where the synagogue and mikveh stood just a short stroll from the house on Parkowa Street If I close my eyes I can see a dapper white haired gentleman in top hat and patent leather shoes like mirrors striding ahead of his wife in a flowered hat with feathers her long full skirt rustling as she tries to keep up with him as they walk to the synagogue on Kilinskiego Street for the marriage of their daughter Lieba to Daniel Baldinger In this forgotten country town I've found important pieces of the mosaic
