New Voices in Native American

Literary Criticism Arnold Krupat, 1993 NEW VOICES/NATIVE AMERICAN LIT Arnold Krupat, 1993-10-17 New Voices in Native American Literary Criticism brings together more than twenty Native American and non Native American critics working in the United States and abroad to explore the oral and textual expressions of Native Americans past and present. Many of the contributors represent a new generation of literary criticism younger scholars and experts in the field who have not for the most part been published widely. The essays discuss Inuit writing Hopi clowning Huichol funeral oration contemporary poetry in the ancient language of Nahuatl and the narratives of Ojibwe Koasati and Shuar storytellers. Contributors also examine the works of Gerald Vizenor Leslie Marmon Silko Mourning Dove Todd Downing Sarah Winnemucca Hopkins and other writers. A final section of essays on ethnocritiques examines Western and non Western model of knowledge and expression and contrasting approaches to translation and transliteration. Reflecting a variety of disciplines including anthropology linguistics and literature this volume will be of interest to nonspecialists as well as specialists in American Indian literatures. More than ten tribes are represented encompassing regions from South and Central America Mexico and the American Southwest and Southeast north to the Canadian Arctic

Alternative Orientalisms in Latin America and Beyond Ignacio López-Calvo, 2007 Orientalism is widely known as the study of Eastern cultures by Western intellectuals. Yet most people would associate this term with scholars from France England Germany and the United States. This book presents along with new essays dealing with the United States the Islamic world and the Far East alternative views on Orientalism this time also coming from Latin America and other regions. While still dealing in some cases with interpretations of the East by Western outsiders the fact that the cultural production analyzed as well as many of the critics comes from an area Latin America that has also been affected by European and US imperialism and colonialism brings new light to the traditionally negative connotations ascribed to the term. These essays reveal that though prejudice and racism are still prevalent in many Orientalist aesthetic practices coming from Latin America and other world regions the perspective can also be radically different. From this perspective rather than constructing the Orient as the West's alien and inferior other the mirror image that appears in this book constitutes an attempt at understanding the Asian within us within the Western world. The postcolonial approach of many of these essays is the theoretical framework that prevents or at least tries to prevent paternalistic or hegemonic representations of the Asian subject. As a result the emphasis is often placed on
