

A cartoon monkey with large, expressive eyes and a gentle smile is the central figure. It is surrounded by lush green jungle foliage. In the foreground, a banner composed of large, white, three-dimensional letters with dark brown outlines and a slight shadow is displayed. The letters spell out "WORDS". The "W" is contained within a yellow rectangular frame with a black border. A small, dark blue number "2" is positioned at the bottom right corner of the "W" frame.

Figaro ,1893    The Nineteenth Century ,1897    Word Order in Discourse Pamela A. Downing,Michael Noonan,1995-06-01 This volume brings together a collection of 18 papers dealing with the problem of word order variation in discourse Word order variation has often been treated as an essentially unpredictable phenomenon a matter of selecting randomly one of the set of possible orders generated by the grammar. However as the papers in this collection show word order variation is not random but rather governed by principles which can be subjected to scientific investigation and are common to all languages. The papers in this volume discuss word order variation in a diverse collection of languages and from a number of perspectives including experimental and quantitative text based studies. A number of papers address the problem of deciding which order is basic among the alternatives. The volume will be of interest to typologists to other linguists interested in problems of word order variation and to those interested in discourse syntax.
