

How do Biweekly Mortgage Payments Work?

How Biweekly Payments Work

- Each year has 12 months or 52 weeks in it.
- If you pay half your monthly payment every other week you are paying a half month 26 times a year.
- This is like making 13 regular monthly payments.
- The equivalent extra monthly payment can shave years and $10,000 in interest off your loan.
- When interest rates are high one saves even more by using accelerated biweekly payments.

Example

$200,000 loan @ 4% APR

$954

monthly principal & interest payment

$440

equivalent bi-weekly payment

$477

accelerated bi-weekly payment

In The Above Scenario

a borrower who uses accelerated bi-weekly payments will find:

The loan is repaid in

310
months

instead of

360
months

they saved

$22,553
in interest

Consumption Effects of Mortgage Payment Holidays: Evidence During the COVID-19 Pandemic Bruno

Albuquerque, Alexandra Varadi, 2022-02-25 We use UK transaction level data during the Covid 19 pandemic to study whether mortgage payment holidays PH can act as a mechanism for smoothing household consumption following negative aggregate shocks Our results suggest that mortgage PH were accessed by both households with pre existing financial vulnerabilities and by those with stronger balance sheets including buy to let investors We also find that the temporary liquidity relief provided by PH allowed liquidity constrained households to maintain higher annual consumption growth compared to those non eligible for the policy Finally we find that mortgage PH led to higher saving rates for more financially stable households
