Multilingual Lexicon:

The Multilingual Lexicon Jasone Cenoz, Britta Hufeisen, U. Jessner, 2003-08-31 This volume is a response both to the increasing interest in multilingual phenomena and lexical issues in language learning. It is of interest to scholars and graduate students interested in bi and multilingualism, second and multiple language acquisition, language processing and language learning, mental lexicon, applied linguistics, psycho and neurolinguistics, and language teaching. Recent research on third language acquisition and trilingualism has made clear that most multilingual studies actually deal with vocabulary learning or the lexicon. So far, books on the mental lexicon have mainly been concerned with two languages in contact. This book is unique because it explores the multilingual lexicon by providing insights from research studies conducted in psycholinguistics, applied linguistics, and neurolinguistics. It goes beyond the use of two languages and thus concentrates on a new and developing area in linguistic research. The different perspectives included in this volume provide a link to the mainstream work on the lexicon and vocabulary acquisition and will stimulate further debate in these areas and in the study of multilingualism.

The multilingual lexicon. An overview of research, 2018-03-08 Seminar paper from the year 2017 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies / Linguistics, grade 1, University of Innsbruck, language English, abstract. This paper presents an overview of research on the multilingual lexicon as well as the highly complex storage of words in the multilingual mind. Furthermore, it deals with word recognition processes and discusses the issue of a language selective versus language nonselective access. The second part of this paper is concerned with the various ways in which different languages are interconnected and influence each other. Based on this, the phenomenon of codeswitching is illustrated as a widespread example of crosslinguistic interaction in the multilingual lexicon. This paper aims at presenting an overview of the complex characteristics of the multilingual lexicon. It should also give an idea of the immense amount of linguistic knowledge that is stored and processed within the multilingual mind and most importantly emphasize the significant linguistic awareness and cognitive skills that multilinguals display.

Multilingual Lexical Recognition in the Mental Lexicon of Third Language Users Weronika Szubko-Sitarek, 2014-10-07 The monograph constitutes an attempt to demonstrate that trilinguals should be considered as learners and speakers in their own right as opposed to L2 learners with a view to enumerating consequences this would bring to third or additional language teaching. Its theoretical part offers an insight into the structure of the multilingual mental lexicon, which is a product of the interplay of a whole array of cross-linguistic factors in the minds of multilingual speakers. The empirical part reports the findings of an empirical study which aimed to investigate connections which are formed between multiple languages in a multilingual mind. All the aspects analyzed in the experiments are part of a broader question of how multilinguals make their lexical decisions and more specifically how they recognize words from different languages. The book closes with the discussion of the role of the obtained results for multilingual didactics as well as some possible areas for future research.

Nicolescu,1993-01-01 Bilingualism Maya Libben,Mira Goral,Gary Libben,2017-12-15 In the world today bilingualism is more common than monolingualism Thus the default mental lexicon may in fact be the bilingual lexicon More than ever social and technological innovation have created a situation in which lexical knowledge may change dramatically throughout an individual s lifetime This book offers a new perspective for the understanding of these phenomena and their consequences for the representation of words in the mind and brain Contributing authors are leaders in the field who provide a re analysis of key assumptions and a re focusing of research They bring new insights and new findings that advance the understanding of both bilingualism and the mental lexicon This volume serves to generate new directions and advances in bilingualism research Multilingual Lexicon of Higher Education: Western Europe and North America ,1993 The Bilingual Lexicon Robert Schreuder,Bert Weltens,1993-01-01 In the study of bilingualism the lexical level of language is of prime importance because in practical terms vocabulary acquisition is an essential prerequisite for the development of skill in language use from a theoretical point of view the mental lexicon as a bridge between form and meaning plays a crucial role in any model of language processing A central issue in this volume is at which level of the bilingual speaker s lexicon languages share representations and how language specific representations may be linked The contributors favor a dynamic developmental perspective on bilingualism which takes account of the change of the mental lexicon over time and pays considerable attention to the acquisition phase Several papers deal with the level of proficiency and its consequences for bilingual lexical processing as well as the effects of practice This discussion raises numerous questions about the notion of lexical proficiency and how this can be established by objective standards an area of study that invites collaboration between researchers working from a theoretical and from a practical background Multilingualism and Applied Comparative Linguistics Frank Boers,Jeroen Darquennes,Rita Temmerman,2007 In February 2006 the first international conference on Multilingualism and Applied Comparative Linguistics MACL was held in Brussels Belgium The aim of the MACL conference was to bring together scholars from various branches of applied linguistics with a shared interest in cross linguistic and cross cultural communication The conference thus fostered an exchange of knowledge and expertise among researchers from various disciplines including educational linguistics cultural linguistics terminography translation studies and studies of specialised languages The present book is the first of two volumes containing a selection from the approximately 120 papers that were presented at that three day event Multilingual lexicon of higher education ,1993 Towards Multilingual Lexicon Discovery from Visually Grounded Speech Emmanuel Mensah Azuh,2019 In this thesis we present a method for the discovery of word like units and their approximate translations from visually grounded speech across multiple languages We first train a neural network model to map images and their spoken audio captions in both English and Hindi to a shared multimodal embedding space Next we use this model to segment and cluster regions of the spoken captions which approximately correspond to words Then we exploit between cluster similarities in the embedding space to associate English pseudo word clusters with Hindi pseudo word clusters and show that many of these cluster pairings capture semantic translations between English and Hindi words We present quantitative cross lingual clustering results as well as qualitative results in the form of a bilingual picture dictionary Finally we show the same analysis for a joint training using three languages at the same time with Japanese as the third language
