Multinationals And East Asian Integration:

Multinationals and East Asian Integration International Development Research Centre (Canada), Chia-Siow Yue, Institute of Southeast Asian Studies, 1997 Multinationals and East Asian Integration Wendy Dobson (ed), 1997 Economic Integration and Multinational Investment Behavior Pierre-Bruno Ruffini, 2004 Recoge Part I Location decisions and the global performance of firms Part II Foreign direct investment and economic development of recipient countries Part III International trade and investment in regional economic integration Business, Markets and Government in the Asia-Pacific Yun-Peng Chu, Rong-I Wu, 2002-09-11 The 23rd book in a long established series of conference volumes which brings together top academics in the field Up to date study being based on the 1996 Pacific Trade and Development conference Comparison between Asia Pacific economic growth and that of the West is of primary contemporary concern The Resurgence of East Asia Giovanni Arrighi, Takeshi Hamashita, Mark Selden, 2004-02-24 The East Asian expansion since the 1960s stands out as a global power shift with few historical precedents The Resurgence of East Asia examines the rise of the region as one of the world's economic power centres from three temporal perspectives 500 years 150 years and 50 years each denoting an epoch in regional and world history and providing a vantage point against which to assess contemporary developments Regional Strategies in a Global Economy René Haak, Dennis S. Tachiki, 2004 Both proponents and opponents of globalization assume it is a process that sweeps across national borders Indeed over the last twenty years the key features of globalization provide prima facie evidence for this conventional wisdom Dramatic developments in information and communications technology the rise of global companies and production networks the unstoppable internationalization of financial markets and the deregulation and privatization of service sectors are all important examples of how this process unfolds in its raw form Nevertheless the increase in regional economic activity is another striking feature of this process As multinational corporations extend their global reach regional networks also emerge in the global trading system Globalization therefore does not only mean a global convulsion of economies but could also lead to a spatial concentration of economic activity All through the 1990s and at the beginning of the new century East Asia experienced numerous structural changes leading to interesting market developments South Korea's rise to developed country status the integration of the Southeast Asian economies and the rise of China have made this region the manufacturing center of the global economy Considering the economic importance of Japan and the other East Asian nations in the world the crucial questions that arise include What are the linkages between the global strategies of multinational corporations and their regional business operations Why do subregional strategies emerge especially recently to take advantage of China as a production base and market Are the modern business practices in a multinational corporation's home country easily transferred to their overseas operations and are they readily absorbed by local employees Finally which strategic directions are Japanese American East Asian and European enterprises going in this important business area of the world To answer these questions this book takes a closer look at several structural features of the East Asian economy and the corporate and business strategies of multinational corporations The volume assembles up to date research by a number of European Australian and Japanese scholars and presents analysis of various business aspects of regional strategies in a global economy Japan and East Asian Integration Chunji Yun,2005 East Asia is now one of the most dynamic parts of the increasingly regionalized world economy This book explores the structure and upgrading mechanism of the highly integrated economy reviewing the previous paradigm centered on Japan The focal points are on the flying geese paradigm the regional production networks a reinterpretation of the East Asian crisis the post crisis transformation of the regional economy and a search for further regional cooperation This volume aims at presenting through these analyses an alternative view for and a perspective on future East Asian regionalism Foreign Direct Investment Bijit Bora,2002-08-08 Foreign Direct Investment examines the different approaches to explaining the growth and distribution of FDI in the world Pulling together contributions from an array of international experts this study combines theoretical with empirical work on issues such as computable general equilibrium modelling trade intellectual property environment l Trade and Human Rights Susan C. Morris,2017-10-05 This title was first published in 2002 Utilizing the case of the 1994 US decision to delink China s human rights record from most favoured nation status Susan C Morris addresses the critical issues where commercialism and human rights converge This insightful addition to the literature on US foreign policy on human rights draws on both political and economic theory touching upon the relationships between labour conditions and production business and freedom of association management and bargaining and ultimately the relationship between economics and human justice Empirically the work draws on US Congressional proceedings and debates throughout the decade of the 1990s Although the trade and human rights debate has long been ingrained in the rhetoric of scholars the research approaches the issue within the context of communism s last major threshold making it a valuable contribution to the field of international relations Multinational Enterprises in Asian Development Prema-chandra Athukorala,2007 This book takes a fresh look at unresolved issues associated with the role of multinational enterprises and foreign direct investment in economic development in light of the experiences of developing countries in Asia Each chapter presents a self contained treatment of a specific theme relating to the developmental implications of MNEs encompassing the current state of the debate and relevant theory and policy implications The key aspects of MNE development interface covered in the book include expansion of manufacturing exports global integration through international fragmentation of production research and development productivity growth susceptibility to and recovery from financial crises macroeconomic adjustment and international competitiveness and economic transition from plan to market Multinational Enterprises in Asian Development will prove a valuable reference tool for academics researchers and students focusing on trade development and international business Professional economists and policy makers wishing to broaden their understanding of the role of MNEs as an integral part of the international development policy will also find much to interest them in this book East Asian Economies and New Regionalism Abe Shigeyuki, Bhanupong Nidhipraba, 2008 In the face of the financial crisis of East Asia in 1997 Japan successfully pressed forth the Miyazawa Plan and other efficient rescue packages while the International Monetary Fund IMF and the World Bank failed to present effective programs With its presence established Japan kept playing a leading role in formulating the Chiang Mai Initiative which facilitated bilateral and regional economic cooperation in the area Based on the analysis of the process this book examines the ways in which East Asia has grappled with the regional integration of the economies of the area The study focuses upon competing developmental models the effects of the Free Trade Agreement and the Economic Partnership Agreement the initiatives of the Association of Southeast Asian Nations investments and trades in the region The contributors to the book then inquire what can be done in financial and monetary domains with special attention paid to the effects of the depreciation of currencies and the consequences of the IMF emergency policies The study also addresses the issues of productivity problems of agrarian small states and difficulties of the socially weak in the region

Responses to Regionalism in East Asia Andrew Staples, 2008-05-30 This book is a timely examination of the impact of deepening regional economic integration and regionalism in East Asia on corporate strategy in the Japanese automotive sector The book presents new knowledge by drawing on empirical research undertaken with corporate executives public officials and academics It offers a cogent analysis of the post crisis transformation of the region and of Japan's pivotal role within this East Asian Economic Perspectives, 1998

The Political Economy of South-East Asia Garry Rodan, Kevin Hewison, Richard Robison, 2001 This new edition updates its predecessor and uses the Asian economic crisis to indicate how theoretical differences identified in the South East Asian boom were brought into even sharper relief in the analysis of the crisis and recovery strategies

Interdependence in the Asia Pacific Bert Edström, 2001 Multinational Enterprises and Industrial Transformation Archanun Kohpaiboon, 2006 MNEs have been involved in Thai manufacturing since the early 1960s but despite this significant involvement their role in the industrialization process is a controversial issue This book aims to evaluate the impact of MNE involvement in Thai manufacturing and to recommend policies for maximising the benefits from MNE involvement MNEs have been involved in Thai manufacturing since the early 1960s but despite this significant involvement their role in the industrialization process remains a controversial issue This book has three main foci to evaluate the impact of MNE involvement in Thai manufacturing to gain insight into the principal mechanisms by which MNEs contribute to the industrialization process and obstacles that prevent them from functioning more effectively and to recommend policies for maximising the benefits from MNE involvement The key hypothesis proposed by the author is that gains from MNE involvement are conditioned by the policy environment of the host country The scope of MNE involvement studies uniquely covers not only FDI but also non FDI The study also draws together valuable conclusions and outlines policy lessons for other developing countries Multinational Enterprises and Industrial Transformation will appeal to post graduate and advanced undergraduate students in subject areas of international economics industrial organization economic growth development economics and Asian economic development ASEAN and the EU in the International Environment Dieter Mahncke,1999 Engaging East Asian Integration Takashi Shiraishi,2003-08-01 Both international trade and investment by East Asian countries have become significantly regionalized To support this development further efforts for regional integration have flourished in the forms of bilateral and regional free trade agreements and the ASEAN 3 and East Asia Summit processes among many others This book is a compilation of papers and discussions originally presented at the international symposium held during the recent global financial crisis The symposium aimed to shed light not only on the usual economic aspect but also on other aspects of the multidimensional phenomenon called e regional integratione Thus in this volume the authors explore the relationship between the U S influence and East Asian regionalism the characteristics of East Asian integration and the politics of inclusion exclusion in the integration process In addition they point out some e missing linkse in integration efforts such as cooperation in the areas of logistics finance trade in services infrastructure and human resource movement Since the global financial crisis did not deter integration efforts rather it has encouraged them this book serves as a guide for future East Asian integration in terms of what to expect and what is to be done East Asia and the International System Charles Edward Morrison,2001 This work is the culmination of three years of discussions with individuals from the Trilateral regions and other East Asian countries including China Singapore Hong Kong South Korea Philippines Indonesia and Malaysia focusing on the role East Asia plays in the international system and how that role will develop in the coming years Topics covered include security economic and political development institution building and cultural issues China And East Asian Economic Integration Sarah Yueting Tong,Tuan Yuen Kong,2020-02-11 For more than half a century East Asia has been the most dynamic and resilient economic region in the world Following Japan s success in its post World War Two reconstruction and industrialisation a good number of East Asian economies flourished The latest and the most extraordinary case is that of China s rapid economic development As the largest economy in the region China pledged to play a leading role in promoting regional economic prosperity China s economic relations with its East Asian neighbours have been complex and have nonetheless grown in strength This edited volume examines China s key economic relations and efforts in participating and promoting economic globalisation as well as the overall development of East Asian economic integration This book focuses on China s importance and efforts in East Asian economic integration by examining the changing patterns of the growing East Asian production network reviewing the process and achievement of China s efforts in internationalising its currency and evaluating the efforts to internationalise Chinese firms It elaborates China s economic relations with individual neighbouring East Asian economies such as Taiwan Hong Kong ASEAN Korea and Japan It discusses the political economy aspect of East Asian economic integration and describes the origins and processes of East Asian economic integration from the Flying Geese model to the numerous free trade arrangements involving the region
