The Daughters of Juarez Teresa Rodriguez,Diana Montané,2007-03-27 A veteran award winning journalist and a former New York Times correspondent and true crime writer team up to create the first major nonfiction work based on the ongoing international phenomenon of over 300 confirmed female homicides and hundreds more missing in the bordertown of Juarez Mexico Despite the fact that Juarez is a Mexican border city just across the Rio Grande from El Paso Texas most Americans are unaware that for decades this city has been the center of an epidemic of horrific crimes against women and girls consisting of kidnappings rape mutilation and murder with most of the victims conforming to a specific profile young slender and poor fueling the premise that the murders are not random While some leading members of the American media have reported on the situation prompting the U S government to send in top criminal profilers from the FBI little real information about this international atrocity has emerged According to Amnesty International as of 2006 more than 400 bodies have been recovered with hundreds still missing As for who is behind the murders themselves the answer remains unknown although many have argued that the killings have become a sort of blood sport due to the lawlessness of the city itself Among the theories being considered are illegal trafficking in human organs ritualistic satanic sacrifices copycat killers and a conspiracy between members of the powerful Ju rez drug cartel and some corrupt Mexican officials who have turned a blind eye to the felonies all the while lining their pockets with money drenched in blood The Daughters of Ju rez is an eye opening authoritative nonfiction work that unflinchingly examines the brutal killings and draws attention to these atrocities on the border The end result will shock readers and become required reading on the subject for years to come

Murder in Mexico Paul Rosner,2001-08 Micheline took a surreptitious glance toward the stranger The woman was staring at her in an odd almost sinister way Even as she opened her wicker basket the Sister of the Scared Heart maintained the same penetrating stare Micheline glanced down at the contents of the basket A sliver of sunlight invaded the drawn shades and caught the gleaming blade of a long sharp knife It was too large for a fruit knife much too large and what was a nun doing in a first class compartment anyway The massive woman slowly grasped the instrument without ever taking her eyes off her traveling companion Cold fear ran up Micheline's spine She wanted to flee but since the Good Sister was sitting by the door she was too scared to move The expression in those dilated octopus eyes seemed to grow more ominous Great beads of perspiration erupted on Micheline's forehead What did the woman want Was she insane Why was she fondling the knife like that A riveting thriller you will not be able to put down
