Global Perspectives on the Politics of Multiculturalism in the 21st Century Fethi Mansouri, Boulou Ebenda de B'béri, 2014-06-05

Multiculturalism is now seen by many of its critics as the source of intercultural and social tensions fostering communal segregation and social conflicts. While the cultural diversity of contemporary societies has to be acknowledged as an empirical and demographic fact whether multiculturalism as a policy offers an optimal conduit for intercultural understanding and social harmony has become increasingly a matter of polarised public debate. This book examines the contested philosophical foundations of multiculturalism and its often controversial applications in the context of migrant societies. It also explores the current theoretical debates about the extent to which multiculturalism and related conceptual constructs can account for the various ethical challenges and policy dilemmas surrounding the management of cultural diversity in our contemporary societies. The authors consider common conceptual and empirical features from a transnational perspective through analysis of the case studies of Australia, Canada, Columbia, Germany, New Zealand, the United Kingdom and Uruguay. This book will be of interest to students and scholars of political science, comparative politics, international studies, multiculturalism, migration and political sociology.

Parekh argues for a pluralist perspective on cultural diversity Writing from both within the liberal tradition and outside of it as a critic he challenges what he calls the moral monism of much of traditional moral philosophy including contemporary liberalism its tendency to assert that only one way of life or set of values is worthwhile and to dismiss the rest as misguided or false He defends his pluralist perspective both at the level of theory and in subtle nuanced analyses of recent controversies Thus he offers careful and clear accounts of why cultural differences should be respected and publicly affirmed why the separation of church and state cannot be used to justify the separation of religion and politics and why the initial critique of Salman Rushdie before a Fatwa threatened his life deserved more serious attention than it received Rejecting naturalism which posits that humans have a relatively fixed nature and that culture is an incidental and culturalism which posits that they are socially and culturally constructed with only a minimal set of features in common he argues for a dialogic interplay between human commonalities and cultural differences This will allow Parekh argues genuinely balanced and thoughtful compromises on even the most controversial cultural issues in the new multicultural world in which we live
