Islam in Europe and the Authoritarian Character Andreas Schulz, 2016-07-18 Seminar paper from the year 2016 in the subject Cultural Studies Miscellaneous University of Vienna Kultur und Sozialanthropologie course Balkanism Orientalism Occidentalism language English abstract I like to illustrate the development of the discussion of the others within the context of the recent decades and I would like to focus on the development of these hegemonic discourses like the construction of the Muslims I would like to illustrate that the Islam cannot be accepted by the majority of the middle European populations for several reasons One important factor is the authoritarian history of Germany and the follow ups for the society Another reason are principals of xenophobic characteristics which relate to specific discourses in the media are connected to the intensity of the relation towards Muslims the knowledge about the Islam in general and politicians which instrumentalize islamistic terrorism to marginalize Muslims at all The Islam is often opposed to Europe rather than to the analogues religious term Christianity In the medial political and in less reflected sciences a dualism is constructed opposing the European secularism towards the Islamic orientalism Islam is seen as an anti modern anti educational fundamentalism and become the ideological and cultural antithesis of the West The recent so called refugee crisis had become a political unit and politicizes the masses Right wing politicians and organizations exploit the origin of their electors as well as the otherness of the refugees to get power Topics concerning values and norms of ours the western societies are keywords in the mainstream discussion within media the political sphere of discussion and always issued at the Stammtisch regular table talks

Islam and the New Europe Sigrid Nökel, Levent Tezcan, 2005 In the post 9 11 era the complexity of Muslim and non Muslim relations within Europe has sharpened Global events have contributed to the reshaping of religious and cultural in particular Muslim representations and arenas The position of Europe as such is in doubt Much of its future depends on how to deal with the emerging new ideals and realities with respect to religion and the challenges of Islam in Europe Muslim participation in contemporary European affair has been long standing But in the past the minority status of such ethnic and religious communities from the Middle East has never been in question Now they are Cities and communities now boast Muslim majorities Questions emerge of bilingualism political participation head dress at public institutions of learning and protection of other minorities such as the Jewish community On the other side European concerns over immigration unemployment health and welfare for the newly arrived and the admission of predominantly Muslim states into the European Community have begun to test the social welfare systems of many nations within Europe The idea of cultural exchange based on tolerance has lost its magical aura Volume 6 of the Yearbook of the Sociology of Islam presents a variety of discussions and case studies from different European countries related to how Muslims are responding to this situation how they and Muslim representation change and how cultural and public negotiation is involved in shaping new perceptions of Islam and Europe Debating Islam Samuel M. Behloul, Susanne Leuenberger, Andreas Tunger-Zanetti, 2013 Conspicuously Islam has become a key concern in most European societies with respect to issues of immigration integration identity values and inland security As the mere presence of Muslim minorities fails to explain these debates convincingly new questions need to be asked How did Islam become a topic Who takes part in the debates How do these debates influence both individual as well as collective self images and image of others Introducing Switzerland as an under researched object of study to the academic discourse on Islam in Europe this volume offers a fresh perspective on the objective by putting recent case studies from diverse national contexts into comparative perspective Radicalization, Terrorism and Conflict Tali K. Muslim Lives in Eastern Europe Kristen Rogheh Ghodsee, 2010 Muslim Lives in Eastern Europe examines how gender identities were reconfigured in a Bulgarian Muslim community following the demise of Communism and an influx of international aid from the Islamic world Kristen Ghodsee conducted extensive ethnographic research among a small population of Pomaks Slavic Muslims living in the remote mountains of southern Bulgaria After Communism fell in 1989 Muslim minorities in Bulgaria sought to rediscover their faith after decades of state imposed atheism But instead of returning to their traditionally heterodox roots isolated groups of Pomaks embraced a distinctly foreign type of Islam which swept into their communities on the back of Saudi financed international aid to Balkan Muslims and which these Pomaks believe to be a more correct interpretation of their religion Ghodsee explores how gender relations among the Pomaks had to be renegotiated after the collapse of both Communism and the region s state subsidized lead and zinc mines She shows how mosques have replaced the mines as the primary site for jobless and underemployed men to express their masculinity and how Muslim women have encouraged this as a way to combat alcoholism and domestic violence Ghodsee demonstrates how women s embrace of this new form of Islam has led them to adopt more conservative family roles and how the Pomaks new religion remains deeply influenced by Bulgaria s Marxist Leninist legacy with its calls for morality social justice and human solidarity
