New Protectionism Protecting The Future Against Free Trade:

The New Protectionism Tim Lang, Colin Hines, 1993 This monograph questions the benefits of free trade arguing that far from promoting prosperity for all those involved free trade only serves a narrow range of interests primarily for the large corporations who conduct it The authors claim that the consequences of present arrangements and those promised under the new GATT agreement will increase the difference between the world's rich and poor and accelerate the destruction of the global environment The authors suggest instead that trading arrangements should emphasize regional self sufficiency and the overall amount of trade should be reduced

The Case Against the Global Economy Jerry Mander, 2014-02-25 The greatest political debate of our time is about the blind rush towards a single global economy its consequences for jobs democracy human well being and cultural diversity and its impact on the natural world that sustains us Its effects will be profound and irreversible but globalization itself is not inevitable In The Case Against the Global Economy 24 leading economic agricultural cultural and environmental authorities drawn from across the world argue that free trade and economic globalization are producing exactly the opposite results to those promised From a detailed analysis of the new global economy its structures and its full social and ecological implications they show how it is undermining our liberty our security and our well being and is devastating the planet First published in the USA in 1996 in an edition focused on North America the book won the American Political Science Association award for the Best Book in Ecological and Transformational Politics This completely revised and updated international edition presents a passionate and persuasive case for the need to reverse course away from globalization and towards a revitalized democracy local self sufficiency and ecological health

Brazil in the Uruguay Round of the GATT Ricardo Wahrendorff Caldas, 2018-12-14 First published in 1998 this volume analyses Brazil's strategy in the Uruguay Round focusing on the issue of services Three different moments were chosen for analysis The first was during discussions before the launch of the Uruguay Round During this period Brazil led the Less Developed Countries LDCs in obstructing the inclusion of services on the agenda The Second was during the launch of the Uruguay Round when Brazil persisted with this policy This second period is referred to as the initial position of Brazil in the Uruguay Round The third was Montreal in 1988 when Brazil supported the principles which guided an agreement on services After this turning point Brazil's position in the Round was increasingly supportive of an agreement not only in services but in all fields

Bioregionalism and Global Ethics Richard Evanoff, 2010-09-13 While a number of schools of environmental thought including social ecology ecofeminism ecological Marxism ecoanarchism and bioregionalism have attempted to link social issues to a concern for the environment environmental ethics as an academic discipline has tended to focus more narrowly on ethics related either to changes in personal values or behavior or to the various ways in which nature might be valued What is lacking is a framework in which individual social and environmental concerns can be looked at not in isolation from each other but rather in terms of their interrelationships In this book Evanoff aims to develop just such a philosophical framework one in which ethical questions related to interactions between self society and nature can be discussed across disciplines and from a variety of different perspectives The central problem his study investigates is the extent to which a dichotomized view of the relationship between nature and culture perpetuated in ongoing debates over anthropocentric vs ecocentric approaches to environmental ethics might be overcome through the adoption of a transactional perspective which offers a more dynamic and coevolutionary understanding of how humans interact with their natural environments Unlike anthropocentric approaches to environmental ethics which often privilege human concerns over ecological preservation and some ecocentric approaches which place more emphasis on preserving natural environments than on meeting human needs a transactional approach attempts to create more symbiotic and less conflictual modes of interaction between human cultures and natural environments which allow for the flourishing of both

Modern State Intervention in the Era of Globalisation Nikolaos Karagiannis, Zagros Madjd-Sadjadi, 2007 The authors of this book argue that in order to meet the challenges of globalisation and promote their own economic welfare governments need strong policy instruments that will enable them to take up a strategic role in selected policy arenas They illustrate how this retooling of policymaking requires a rethinking of the form of government intervention and especially an emphasis on its modern developmental role The book begins with chapters exploring theoretical issues such as economic and political aspects of the state the impact of government expenditure the case for and against free trade and neoclassical and Keynesian approaches to public finance Succeeding chapters examine fiscal policy development problems in the European Community and the success of Japan South Korea Taiwan Singapore and Hong Kong The final chapters present the Developmental State argument not only as a coherent theory but more importantly as a realistic development policy framework This will be an important reference text for students and scholars of public sector economics public finance East Asian studies development studies and governance Policymakers will also find the in depth discussions a valuable tool
