Differences in Venture Capital Financing of U S , Uk, German and French Information Technology Start-Ups Michael Jurgen Garbade, 2011-04 Doctoral Thesis Dissertation from the year 2011 in the subject Business economics Investment and Finance University of Kassel Research Group Entrepreneurship language English abstract Independent Venture Capital IVC has been paramount in the emergence of the information technology industry in both the United States and Europe. There are relatively few large global information technology companies in Europe. A widening gap is observable in the success rate of IVC backed start ups between the U S and Europe in the information technology industry. This difference could be attributable to the differences in the venture capital financing of start ups in the U S UK Germany and France. This book deals with Differences in Venture Capital Financing of U S UK German and French Information Technology Start ups. The comparative analysis is conducted on a microeconomic level managerial venture capital research i e on the venture capital firm level. The differences are analyzed for the whole venture capital investment cycle contact phase initial screening phase due diligence phase deal structuring and negotiation phase management phase value adding services and exit phase. The research framework model examines the following differences in the venture capital investment cycle average size of investment in the seed stage average size of investment in the start up stage aver age size of investment in the growth stage percentage of start ups in pre revenue phase at time of investment percentage of start ups not managed by founders but experienced managers percentage of investment in start ups with me too products percentage of mar ket analysis due diligence done informal typical liquidation preference multiple percent age syndicated exits that are outperformers number of tranches per investment round number of board seats per partner and the cash multiple X that defines an outperformer. The empirical research work is based on an extensiv

African Journal of International Affairs & Development ,2018 Reform and Leadership in the Public Sector Joe L. Wallis, Brian Dollery, Linda McLoughlin, 2007 The authors provide a fresh and accessible multi disciplinary perspective on public management reform in this study. The work includes a broad survey of the paradigms and patterns that have shaped and differentiated the reform process in different countries. The book focuses on two themes not usually considered together First the scope and limits of the role economists have played in reform processes not simply in terms of providing analytical models but in the actual leadership required to advance reform coherently Secondly the authors examine the importance of developing leadership at all levels of the public sector to take advantage of the opportunities reforms have generated and to create new sources of public value In bringing these themes together they uniquely show how the family of economic theories public choice agency theory and new institutional economics can be adapted to explain why there might be a demand for developing public sector leadership that reflects an appreciative managerial style as opposed to the hard edged contractualism often associated with public management reform
