communities whose very identity is being threatened by the impending death of their languages. In response to this crisis indigenous communities around the world have begun to develop a myriad of projects to keep their languages alive. This volume is a set of detailed accounts about the kind of work that is going on now as people struggle for their linguistic survival. It also serves as a manual of effective practices in language revitalization. Following are the key features: 23 case studies of language revitalization in practice from Native American languages, Australian languages, Maori, Hawaiian, Welsh, Irish and others written primarily by authors directly involved in the programs. Short introductions situate the languages to help make the languages more real in the minds of readers. Each chapter gives a detailed overview of the various kinds of programs and methods in practice today. Introductions and maps for each of the languages represented familiarize the reader with their history, linguistic structure and sociolinguistic features and strong representation in authorship and viewpoint of the people and communities whose languages are threatened. Gives the readers an inside understanding of the issues involved and the community internal attitudes toward language loss and revitalization. There is an important difference to keep in mind between bilingual education and the study of foreign languages as school subjects. In bilingual education two languages are used for instruction and the goal is academic success in and through the two languages. The traditional model of foreign language study places the emphasis on the acquisition of the languages themselves. The field of bilingual education is dynamic and even controversial. The two volumes of this comprehensive first stop reference work collect and synthesize the knowledge base that has been well researched and accepted in the United States and abroad while also taking note of how this topic affects schools, research centers, legislative bodies, advocacy organizations and families. The Encyclopedia of Bilingual Education is embedded in several disciplines including applied linguistics, politics, civil rights, historical events and of course classroom instruction. This work is a compendium of information on bilingual education and related topics in the United States with select international contributors providing global insight onto the field. Key Features: Explores in a comprehensive non-technical way the intricacies of this subject from multiple perspectives its history, policy, classroom practice, instructional design and research bases. Shows connections between bilingual education and related subjects such as linguistics, education, equity issues, socio-cultural diversity and the nature of demographic change in the United States. Documents the history of bilingual education in the last half of the 20th century and summarizes its roots in earlier periods Discusses important legislation and litigation documents Key Themes Family Community and Society History Instructional Design Languages and Linguistics People and Organizations Policy Evolution Social Science Perspectives Teaching and Learning The Encyclopedia of Bilingual Education is a valuable resource for those who wish to understand the polemics associated with this field as well as its technical details This will be an excellent addition to any academic library

The Journal of Educational Method James Fleming Hoscic, 1924 The Neurobiological Factors in Second Language Learning and Acquisition Janos Talaber, 2011-06-03 Scientific Essay from the year 2011 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Linguistics University of Debrecen Regnum M Educational Co University of Debrecen course English Language and Literature Studies Linguistics language English abstract It is obvious that second language acquisition is a very inevitable phenomenon in language learning procedure hence there is a whole library of books dealing with SLA Contemporary findings Pl h 2010 have also showed that LA is one of the most important processes in our life determining the whole procedure of language learning not only in the case of second language but also in the case of our mother tongue Moreover the whole process includes memorizing things conceptualization connecting cognitive information and eventual accuracy in the use of language Interestingly enough contemporary findings have also proved Deb K Roy et al 2002 that first language acquisition begins even before the birth of the child which means that the adaptation to the new circumstances and verbalcommunication starts in the mother s uterus These new researches and our devotion to medical disciplines1 have made us compose an essay on the biological factors of Second Language Acquisition No doubt biological and neurobiological factors are very severely important parts of LA procedures however they are not really put into the focus of linguistic experts The reason for this might be traced in several things there are some Birnbaum 1996 who think that biological factors are not so important since linguistic experts are supposed to be dealing with the technical and mechanical factors of language acquisition e g how we learn the things what methodology or approaches we need to master the language properly etc Others note Clark 1997 that even when biological factors are very determining linguistics are obliged to stick to the main stream of language acquisition which is beyond any questions not a biological but a psychological factor However there are a lot more others who support biological factors and dealing with neurobiology deeply in contemporary writings These opinions all encouraged us to write an essay on biological factors emphasizing that biology and neurobiology are very important in Language Acquisition Furthermore in accordance with the new scientific findings and surveys we were really given the suggestion that there is a great need for dealing and utilizing neurobiology in the frame of linguistics The Teaching of High School Subjects William Alfred Millis,Mrs. Harriet Harding Millis,Mrs Harriet Harding Millis,1925
