Achievements and Standards

Personal Development and Wellbeing

Our vision and values inform the School Development Plan.

Effective governance systems focus on:

- 1. Ensuring clarity of vision, ethos and strategic direction: It is the board's role to set the school's strategic framework and to ensure all statutory duties are met.
- 2. Holding the Principal and senior leaders to account: Governors hold leaders to account for the educational performance of the school and its pupils, and the performance management of staff.
- 3. Overseeing the financial performance of the school: Governors must ensure that the budget is well spent.

Hayes Governing Board aims:

- To have the right people with the necessary skills, time and commitment, and sufficient diversity of perspectives to ensure internal challenge, all actively contributing in line with clearly defined roles and responsibilities under an effective chair and an explicit code of conduct, and with active succession planning;
- To maintain and develop clear governance structures with tightly defined remits, particularly in relation to functions delegated to committees or other bodies;
- To ensure a clear separation between the strategic and operational in terms of the role of the board and its school leaders;
- To maintain and develop positive relationships between the strategic and operational in terms of the role of the board and its school leaders;
- To have the support and advice of an independent, professional clerk and the academy trust company secretary;
- To ensure robust processes for financial and business planning are in place and oversight and effective controls exist for compliance, propriety and value for money;
- To implement processes for regular self-evaluation, review and improvement including: skills audits, training and development plans, and independent external reviews as necessary.

Ann Holt, Tom Hinds

New School Governor Realizing The Authority In The Head And Governing Body:

National School Policy (1996) Jim Docking, 2018-02-06 Published in 1996 this book presents a broad overview of the development of educational policy for schools in England and Wales since Margaret Thatcher's Conservative administration took office in 1979. It reviews the separate strands of education policy as it relates to curriculum, equal educational opportunities, diversity and choice, and management policies, and combines these with an overall appraisal of the direction of the schools system in the two decades before it was written. The book thereby provides a comprehensive text for undergraduate and postgraduate students which raises issues for debate and includes support material for discussion. It will also be of interest to school governors, educationalists, and all those who care about the direction of educational change.

The New School Governor Ann Holt, Tom Hinds, 1994 This text aims to demystify the changes in school management that have come in the wake of new governing bodies. It examines the experiences of school governors and heads, suggests ways of improving practices, and explains how to deal with the accountability that comes with increased power.

The Effective School Governor Joan Dean, 2002-01-04 This comprehensive guide book for governors specifically focuses on providing clear guidance on issues facing schools now. Topics covered include the Home School agreement, the school day, the school year, citizenship, literacy and numeracy provision, school self-evaluation, and the light touch inspection. The book addresses issues that are new to all governors.

Effective Governors, Effective Schools Michael Creese, 1995 The purpose of this book is to help governing bodies to work more effectively in partnership with the staff towards improving the quality of education provided by the school. Written in straightforward language and with a minimum of jargon, each chapter includes a number of practical activities which might form the basis of governing body training sessions. Alternatively, the book can be used privately by individual governors. The author seeks to inform and thus include governors in the debate about educational standards and school improvement.
