The Northern Ireland Legal Quarterly, 1990 Medicine, Law and Social Change L. W. Darvall, 1993 Drawing primarily on Australian material but with reference to US and to a lesser extent UK materials this book provides an overview of the interaction between social and institutional forces shaping medical autonomy. The various forces which will be examined include the consumer and women's movements Bioethics the common law and government. Although each of these forces has developed independently nevertheless there is a common interest in underlying concepts of patients rights and autonomy. The effects of each of these forces is examined in the context of the clinical relationship with particular reference to information disclosure and the rights of patients to refuse and demand treatment. The book will be also concerned with the effect of these forces in professional self regulation. International Legal Books in Print, 1990-1991 Bowker-Saur, 1990

Current Legal Theory, 1992 Current Publications in Legal and Related Fields, 1989 Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 1989 Family Planning Practice and the Law Kenneth McKenzie Norrie, 1991 The author of this book suggests that there are two main reasons for the expansion of family planning in the last thirty years. The first is the greater rights consciousness of women in the western world which has led to a greater expectation of choice of whole lifestyle and the second a recognition that sexual intercourse is something good in itself. Legislation has reflected this change and the book discusses the various kinds of family planning available and the legal situation eg birth control and minors the rights of partners the rights of the mentally disabled and the responsibilities of doctors and other professionals. Current Law Statutes Great Britain, 1990 Canadian Feminist Perspectives on Law Elizabeth A. Sheehy, Susan B. Boyd, 1989 Law Books in Print: Subject index Nicholas Triflin, 1994
