New Society Perspectives For Today's World:

Sex, Race, and Class—The Perspective of Winning Selma James, 2012-05-01 In 1972 Selma James set out a new political perspective. Her starting point was the millions of unwaged women who were working in the home and on the land but were not seen as workers and their struggles viewed as outside of the class struggle. Based on her political training in the Johnson Forest Tendency founded by her late husband C. L. R. James on movement experience in South and North America and on a respectful study of Marx, she redefined the working class to include sectors previously dismissed as marginal. For James, the class struggle presents itself as the conflict between the reproduction and survival of the human race and the domination of the market with its exploitation wars and ecological devastation. She sums up her strategy for change as 'Invest in Caring, not Killing'. This selection spanning six decades traces the development of this perspective in the course of building an international campaigning network. It includes excerpts from the classic The Power of Women and the Subversion of the Community which launched the domestic labor debate, the exciting Hookers in the House of the Lord which describes a church occupation by sex workers, an incisive review of the C. L. R. James masterpiece The Black Jacobins, a reappraisal of the novels of Jean Rhys and of the leadership of Julius Nyerere, the groundbreaking Marx and Feminism and more. The writing is lucid and without jargon. The ideas never abstract; they spring from the experience of organising, from trying to make sense of the successes and the setbacks and from the need to find a way forward.
