Canby, 2015-07-14 Excerpt from Our House: In the Roberts dining room a match flame sparkled momentarily upon the dark mahogany of the sideboard and the cheerful golden oak of glass cabinets opposite. Another and brighter lit spectrally the stiff family portraits hung above. George the colored waiter was lighting the new candles beneath their rosy shades humming tunelessly as he moved along the table. Jee ru saluhum Jee ru saluhum. If ever I take my stand Oh happy land I see coram Lawd I see coram Lawd. When a match went out he grumbled and scratched another on his alpaca trousers. He did not like the new candles with their springs and light so faint that you couldn't see how much was left in the dishes. His idea of a party was to light all the gas and then fix up the napkins to look like birds or bouquets the way they did at Cape May. Seven of 'em he counted the chairs to make sure there were places enough but Miss Mattie she don't eat no waffles. A plateful '11 jes about go round. Inside that house several generations of a family have grown up. Grandma and Grandpa arrived at the house from a country far away and Mom and her brothers played on the steps on warm summer days. This little girl learned how to walk on that street too. Hyewon Yum's This Is Our House is a warm story with spare text that follows a family through seasons and generations from the early days of immigration to the times that made their house into a home.
