Bureau of Naval Personnel, 1966 Theories and practical skills for use in optical shops are presented in this rate training manual prepared for regular navy and naval reserve personnel Light theories are analyzed in connection with mirrors prisms lenses and basic optical systems Following fundamentals of mechanical design and construction maintenance procedures are studied to give a general knowledge of optical repair Special descriptions are made of such instruments as spyglasses telescopes magnetic compasses azimuth and bearing circles sextants stadimeters telescopic alidades binoculars submarine periscopes and night vision sights To give enough background for readers operations of lathes grinders milling machines and drill presses are also discussed Besides illustrations for explanation purposes information on the opticalman rating structure is also provided      Using Commercial Amateur Astronomical Spectrographs Jeffrey L. Hopkins, 2013-11-19 Amateur astronomers interested in learning more about astronomical spectroscopy now have the guide they need It provides detailed information about how to get started inexpensively with low resolution spectroscopy and then how to move on to more advanced high resolution spectroscopy Uniquely the instructions concentrate very much on the practical aspects of using commercially available spectroscopes rather than simply explaining how spectroscopes work The book includes a clear explanation of the laboratory theory behind astronomical spectrographs and goes on to extensively cover the practical application of astronomical spectroscopy in detail Four popular and reasonably priced commercially available diffraction grating spectrographs are used as examples The first is a low resolution transmission diffraction grating the Star Analyser spectrograph The second is an inexpensive fiber optic coupled bench spectrograph that can be used to learn more about spectroscopy The third is a newcomer the ALPY 600 spectrograph The fourth spectrograph considered is at the other end of the market both in performance and cost the high resolution Lhires III While considerably more expensive this is a popular and excellent scientific instrument that allows more advanced amateur astronomers to produce scientifically valuable data With all of these tools in place the amateur astronomer is well prepared to forger deeper into the night sky using spectroscopy      Astronomical papers prepared for the use of the American ephemeris and nautical almanac ,1882
