Mirror Machine Video And Identity:

Mirror Machine Centre for Research on Canadian Cultural Industries and Institutions, 1995 This anthology examines the relation between identity politics and independent video practices in Canada. From different vantage points the contributors carve out a central problematic video as a technology that has challenged and extended not only the parameters of modern art but the very possibility of cultural resistance in the age of global television. The essays explore video's representational vocation shaped both by institutional supports (National Film Board, Canada Council, Cable, etc.) and by community needs for agency and voice. Essays by Renee Baert, Marjorie Beaucage, Rom Burnett, Kevin Dowler, Tom Folland, Monika Kim Gagnon, Peggy Gale, Jennifer Kawaja, Janine Marchessault, Christine Ross, Nancy Shaw, Dot Tuer, and Thomas Waugh.

North of Everything William Beard, Jerry White, 2002-06 This is the first book to comprehensively examine the development of English Canadian cinema since 1980. Previous books in English have dealt either with specific films or filmmakers with policy or with specific genres (avant-garde, film, documentary, films by women, etc.). It deals with regional and institutional questions with the new authors that are defining contemporary cinema in English Canada with avant-garde work and work by Aboriginal people. Bringing together a wide variety of contributors, the book deals with an enormous amount of cinema that has helped transform North American culture of the last two decades.

Processed Lives Melodie Calvert, Jennifer Terry, 2005-06-28 Considers how the terms of gender are embodied in technologies and conversely how technologies shape our notions of gender. The contributors explore the complex territory between the lust for and the fear of technology, commenting on the ambivalence women experience in relation to machines. Discussing topics such as embryonic fertilization, the virtual female, networking, women, the sexuality of computers, surveillance systems, UFOs, and the emancipation of Barbie, Processed Lives offers a provocative, visually rich critical approach to the multifaceted relationships between masculinity, femininity, and machines. Contributors: Barbie Liberation Organization, Ericka Beckman, Lisa Cartwright, Gregg Bordowitz, Sara Diamond, Judith Halberstam, Evelyn Hammonds, Kathy High, David Horn, Ira Livingston, Bonita Makuch, Margaret Morse, Soheir Morsy, Liss Platt, B. Ruby Rich, Connie Samaras, Joya Saunders, Julia Scher, Andrea Slane, Mary Ellen Strom, Christine Tamblyn, Nina Wakeford.

Ruling Out Art Taryn Sirove, 2019-05-15 In the 1980s the Ontario Board of Censors began to subject media artists' work to the same cuts, bans, and warning labels as commercial film. Ruling Out Art reveals what happens when art and law intersect when artists, arts exhibitors, and their anti-censorship allies enter courts of law as appellants or defendants or expert witnesses. The administration of culture during Ontario's censor wars was not a simple top-down exercise. Members of arts communities mounted grassroots protests and engaged the province in court cases that ultimately influenced how the province interpreted freedom of expression, a fundamental and far-reaching legal right. The language of the law in turn shaped the way artists conceived of their own practices. By exploring how art practices and provincial legislation intertwined during Ontario's censor wars, this innovative book documents an important moment in the history of contemporary art and cultural activism in Canada one that helped artists secure their constitutional rights under the law Now You See It Richard Dyer, 2013-11-05 Revised for this second edition Now You See It Richard Dyer's groundbreaking study of films by and about lesbians and gay men now includes an outline of developments in queer cinema since 1990 Placing the book within lesbian and gay film history Dyer examines familiar titles such as Girls in Uniform Un Chant D'Amour and Word is Out in their lesbian gay context as well as bringing to light many other forgotten but remarkable films Each film is examined in detail in relation to both film type and tradition and the sexual subculture in which it was made Now featuring a brand new introduction by Julianne Piddock this will be an excellent aid to cinema and film studies courses

Rain, Drizzle, Fog Darrell Varga, 2009 Offers a scholarly study of film and television in Atlantic Canada This book provides a historical overview of film and television in the region as well as essays on specific topics such as popular TV The Trailer Park Boys early TV The Don Messer Show and the work of filmmakers such as Bill MacGillivray and Andrea Dorfman

The Independent Film & Video Monthly, 1996 Between Ethics and Aesthetics Dorota Glowacka, Stephen Boos, 2012-02-01 This forum of current discussions of ethics and aesthetics addresses a cross section of disciplines including literary theory philosophy women's studies postcolonial theory art history Holocaust studies theology and others Contributors ranging from philosophers and literary critics to practicing artists and art curators answer such questions as In the age of the collapse of metaphysics what is the relation between philosophical reflection and art If we question the privilege accorded to the aesthetic can ethics alone offer a solution to the crisis of representation Is it possible and ethically viable to represent the other in speech and image What happens at the conjunction of aesthetics and politics Can one speak of aesthetic configurations of the space of community Are the concepts of ethics and aesthetics gendered and repressive of sexual difference Considering the many works that consider either ethics or aesthetics almost exclusively within the confines of particular disciplines this collection crosses the boundaries and continues the debate outside the rigid parameters of specialized discourses

Fuse Magazine, 2001 Canadian Journal of Film Studies, 1997 Videotexts Peggy Gale, 1995-10-20 When the video camera first appeared on the market artists hailed the newly available equipment as the new pencil the better canvas the best eye of all The medium was exciting and revolutionary low cost and low tech everybody was curious as galleries and museums hastened to program new video works in festivals and exhibitions However little aesthetic or critical material was available on either artists or issues it was generally assumed that artists video was just some kind of wannabe television its concerns and achievements and its relationship to the visual arts generally were too often undervalued But video artists continued to explore and advance in the medium and works produced in the seventies are strikingly different from those of today Videotexts is an invaluable collection of essays a comprehensive guide to Canadian video artists and their works The essays focus on important individual tapes and artists and on the development of narrative forms to construct meaning and confirm memory Revised and updated they offer a present tense assessment of key works
