models the transition from specifications to program implementations The author presents a notion of correctness which relies on the idea of abstraction functions Second in order to obtain an integrated design environment a uniform structuring concept for object oriented programs and algebraic specifications has to be provided Inheritance subtyping and clientship are three central notions of object oriented structuring The author uses them to develop the kernel of a typed object oriented programming language The monograph provides the formal foundation for a unified framework of algebraic specifications and object oriented programs A major guideline is the development of a design method supporting the structured design and reuse of software in this environment

Complexity and Ecosystem Management Marco Janssen, 2002-01-01 The quality of ecosystems is affected by the actions of different stakeholders who use them in a variety of ways In order to understand this complex relationship between humans and nature it is vital to understand the complexity of the interacting agents The authors in this book attempt to do this by applying multi agent systems to the problems of ecosystem management The multi agent approach to ecosystem management is a relatively new and rapidly developing field which takes a formal computational approach towards the interaction of humans with their environment The authors highlight some of the promising new methodologies which are emerging in the field from disciplines such as computer science and computational social science They move on to address a number of important topics including diffusion processes common pool resources land use change and the participatory use of models in an attempt to solve contemporary management issues They clearly demonstrate the potential utility of multi agent systems in the context of theoretical problems and practical case studies
