Modern Architecture The Architecture Of:

The Meaning of Modern Architecture Hans Rudolf Morgenthaler, 2016-03-09 Using empathy as established by the Vienna School of Art History complemented by insights on how the mind processes visual stimuli as demonstrated by late 19th century psychologists and art theorists this book puts forward an innovative interpretative method of decoding the forms and spaces of Modern buildings This method was first developed as scholars realized that the new abstract art appearing needed to be analysed differently than the previous figurative works Since architecture experienced a similar development in the 1920s and 30s this book argues that the empathetic method can also be used in architectural interpretation While most existing scholarship tends to focus on formal and functional analysis this book proposes that Modern architecture is too diverse to be reduced to a few common formal or ornamental features Instead by relying on the viewer's innate psycho physiological perceptive abilities sensual and intuitive understandings of composition form and space are emphasized These aspects are especially significant because Modern Architecture lacks the traditional stylistic signs Including building analyses it shows how by visually reducing cubical forms and spaces to linear configurations the exteriors and interiors of Modern buildings can be interpreted via human perceptive abilities as dynamic movement systems commensurate with the new industrial transportation age This reveals an inner necessity these buildings express about themselves and their culture rather than just an explanation of how they are assembled and how they should be used The case studies highlight the contrasts between buildings designed by different architects rather than concentrating on the few features that relate them to the zeitgeist It analyses the buildings directly as the objects of study not indirectly as designs filtered through a philosophical or theoretical discourse The book demonstrates that with technology and science affecting culture Modern Movements in Architecture Charles Jencks, 1985 See Camp and Johnson Philip in index

History of Modern Architecture Leonardo Benevolo, 1977 A serious and original study of the beginnings and development of modernism in which the pictorial aspects are designed to aid in the communication of the author's closely reasoned formulations Let it be said at once that the format of this work is richly handsome it is a two volume boxed set comprising 844 pages and well over 1 000 high quality illustrations and it reflects throughout its publisher's conviction that good design is an essential not superficial part of bookmaking Beyond that it should be emphasized that this work is not another facile cultural tour of modern architecture It is a serious and original study of the beginnings and development of modernism in which the pictorial aspects are designed to aid in the communication of the author's closely reasoned formulations rather than to gloss over a lack of substantive content The book is a translation of the third Italian edition published in 1966 Benevolo who is on the faculty of architecture in Venice has earned an international reputation as a historian of architecture and town planning and his publications embrace the span of time from the Renaissance to the foreseeable future One such publication The Origins of Modern Town Planning The MIT Press 1967 may be read as a prelude to the present work as well as an independent

contribution Perhaps more than any other architectural historian in our time Benevolo has made a determined effort to place developments in design and planning in their proper social and political settings Indeed the author argues that the development of the modern movement in architecture was determined not by aesthetic formalisms but largely by the social changes that have occurred since about 1760 After the middle of the eighteenth century without the continuity of formal activity being in any way broken indeed while architectural language seems to be acquiring a particular coherence the relations between architect and society began to change radically New material and spiritual needs new ideas and modes of procedure arise both within and beyond the traditional limits and finally they run together to form a new architectural synthesis that is completely different from the old one In this way it is possible to explain the birth of modern architecture which otherwise would seem completely incomprehensible This second volume is concerned with the modern movement proper from 1914 to 1966 The author emphasizes the unity of the movement rejecting the usual treatment that allots to the individual architects separate and unconnected biographical accounts Benevolo remarks at one point When one talks about modern architecture one must bear in mind the fact that it implies not only a new range of forms but also a new way of thinking whose consequences have not yet all been calculated His main concern is to provide a more exact calculation of those consequences The Language of Post-modern Architecture Charles Jencks,1977 A classic account which when written in 1977 was the first to define post modernism in architecture an event which led to subsequent adoption of the term in many other fields It is the story of the failure of modern architecture to communicate with its users and the attempt of post modernists to overcome this failure with a richer more widely shared language post modern classicism Google Books

Changing Ideals in Modern Architecture, 1750-1950 Peter Collins,1998 Changing Ideals in Modern Architecture revolutionized the understanding of modernism in architecture pushing back the sense of its origin from the early twentieth century to the 1750s and thus placing architectural thought within the a broader context of Western intellectual history This new edition of Peter Collins s ground breaking study includes all seventy two illustrations of the original hard cover edition which has been out of print since 1967 and restores the large format Modern Architecture Otto Wagner,1988 In 1896 Otto Wagner s Modern Architecture shocked the European architectural community with its impassioned plea for an end to eclecticism and for a modern style suited to contemporary needs and ideals utilizing the nascent constructional technologies and materials Through the combined forces of his polemical pedagogical and professional efforts this determined newly appointed professor at the Vienna Academy of Fine Arts emerged in the late 1890s along with such contemporaries as Charles Rennie Mackintosh in Glasgow and Louis Sullivan in Chicago as one of the leaders of the revolution soon to be identified as the Modern Movement Wagner s historic manifesto is now presented in a new English translation the first in almost ninety years based on the expanded 1902 text and noting emendations made to the 1896 1898 and 1914 editions In his introduction Dr Harry Mallgrave examines Wagner s tract against the backdrop of nineteenth century theory critically exploring the affinities of Wagner's revolutionary Ian with the German eclectic debate of the 1840s the materialistic tendencies of the 1870s and 1880s and the emerging cultural ideology of modernity Modern Architecture is one of those rare works in the literature of architecture that not only proclaimed the dawning of a new era but also perspicuously and cogently shaped the issues and the course of its development it defined less the personal aspirations of one individual and more the collective hopes and dreams of a generation facing the sanguine promise of a new century

Late-modern Architecture and Other Essays Charles Jencks,1980 Modern Architecture Since 1900 William J. R. Curtis,1987 A penetrating analysis of the modern architectural tradition and its origins Since its first publication in 1982 Modern Architecture Since 1900 has become established as a contemporary classic Worldwide in scope it combines a clear historical outline with masterly analysis and interpretation Technical economic social and intellectual developments are brought together in a comprehensive narrative which provides a setting for the detailed examination of buildings Throughout the book the author's focus is on the individual architect and on the qualities that give outstanding buildings their lasting value For the third edition the text has been radically revised and expanded incorporating much new material and a fresh appreciation of regional identity and variety Seven chapters are entirely new including expanded coverage of recent world architecture Described by James Ackerman of Harvard University as immeasurably the finest work covering this field in existence this book presents a penetrating analysis of the modern tradition and its origins tracing the creative interaction between old and new that has generated such an astonishing richness of architectural forms across the world and throughout the century

Modern Architecture Alan Colquhoun,2002-04-25 This new account of international modernism explores the complex motivations behind this revolutionary movement and assesses its triumphs and failures The work of the main architects of the movement such as Frank Lloyd Wright Adolf Loos Le Corbusier and Mies van der Rohe is re examined shedding new light on their roles as acknowledged masters Alan Colquhoun explores the evolution of the movement from Art Nouveau in the 1890s to the megastructures of the 1960s revealing the often contradictory demands of form function social engagement modernity and tradition

Modern Architecture and Design Bill Risebero,1982 Makers of Modern Architecture, Volume II Martin Filler,2013-08-20 In the first volume of Makers of Modern Architecture 2007 Martin Filler examined the emergence of that revolutionary new form of building and explored its aesthetic social and spiritual aspirations through illuminating studies of some of its most important practitioners from Louis Sullivan and Frank Lloyd Wright to in our own time Renzo Piano and Santiago Calatrava Now in Makers of Modern Architecture Volume II Filler continues his investigations into the building art beginning with the historical eclecticism of McKim Mead and White best remembered today for New York City's demolished Pennsylvania Station He surveys the seemingly inexhaustible flow of new books about Wright and Le Corbusier and continues his commentaries on Piano's museum buildings with an essay focused on the new Broad Contemporary Art Museum in Los Angeles There are less well known subjects here too from the Frankfurt urban planner Ernst May to Buckminster Fuller inventor of the geodesic dome Filler judges Edward Durell Stone the architect of the U S embassy in New Delhi the Huntington Hartford Museum in New York City and the Kennedy Center in Washington to have been a middling product of his times however personally interesting he may have been And he looks back at James Stirling who in the 1970s and 1980s was a veritable rock star of the profession responsible for what Filler considers some of the very few worthwhile postmodernist buildings The essays collected here are not entirely historical however Filler also focuses on some of the most recent projects to have attracted critical and popular attention both in the United States and abroad including Rem Koolhaas's CCTV building in Beijing and Bernard Tschumi's Acropolis Museum in Athens He argues that Kazuyo Sejima and Ryue Nishizawa's New Museum in New York City is one of those rare clarifying works of architecture that makes most recent buildings of the same sort look suddenly ridiculous He calls Tod Williams and Billie Tsien's brilliant reimagining of the Barnes Collection in Philadelphia a latter day miracle a virtually unimprovable setting for its art He finds Michael Arad's September 11 Memorial at Ground Zero a sobering disturbing heartbreaking and overwhelming masterpiece And he argues that Diller Scofidio Renfro's Institute of Contemporary Art in Boston and their work revitalizing the High Line and Lincoln Center in New York make them today's shrewdest yet most sympathetic enhancers of the American metropolis Filler remains in these nineteen essays a shrewd observer of the pressures on architects and their projects money politics social expectations even the weight of their own reputations But his focus is always on the buildings themselves on their sincerity and directness on their form and their function on their capacity to bring delight to the human landscape

Modern Architecture Henry Heathcote Statham, 1897 History of Modern Architecture Leonardo Benevolo, 1971

Principles of Modern Architecture Christian Norberg-Schulz, 2000 Principles of Modern Architecture is a clear concise accessible account of what the modern movement really wanted and what it achieved by one of the world's leading architectural critics An Introduction to Modern Architecture James Maude Richards, 1941 Modern Architecture Henry-Russell Hitchcock, 1929 Theories and Manifestoes of Contemporary Architecture Charles Jencks, Karl Kropf, 1997-08-05 This essential compendium presents more than 150 key arguments by major architectural philosophers and gurus of today and outlines the numerous developments that have taken place in this field since the 1950s Each of the statements is accompanied by a short biography of the architect and an extract from their principal texts drawn from a variety of sources Guide to Modern Architecture Reyner Banham, 1967 Modern Architecture and the Critical Present Kenneth Frampton, 1982 Modern Architecture and Other Essays Vincent Scully, 2003 Combining the modes of historian and critic in unique and compelling ways Scully has profoundly influenced the way architecture is thought about and made This illustrated and elegantly designed volume distills Scully's incalculable contribution 300 illustrations
